

SHOT WIFE'S PARENTS

LULA A SUICIDE

Shot Himself After Wounding Wife's Father and Mother

Crazed with jealousy, Stephan Lula, a young Polish operative, broke into the home of his wife's parents at 56 Front street about midnight last night in quest of his wife and failing to find her there shot and seriously wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Kozlot, shot her husband, Joseph Kozlot, through the arm, and then turned the revolver on himself and sent a bullet through his head.

The three were hurried to St. John's hospital immediately after the shooting where everything possible was done to save them. When Lula failed to recover consciousness and passed away at 4:24 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Kozlot, who was shot through the breast, is in a critical condition, though the doctors entertain hope for her recovery. Joseph Kozlot received a bullet in the right arm above the elbow and his injury is more painful than serious.

Mrs. Annie Lula, for whom Lula was looking with the intention of killing her, heard her husband's voice and knowing him to be a dangerous person, left her bed and hid herself in a closet in the room. The infuriated woman was hiding but failing to find her in bed went into the kitchen and shot the mother-in-law and then returned to the kitchen and shot himself.

Broke Into the House

Mr. and Mrs. Kozlot and their daughter, Mrs. Lula, retired early last night, but were awakened about midnight by some person pounding on the door. The occupants of the house were badly frightened and hesitated about opening the door. The person knocking was Lula, and when he received no response he burst in the door and rushed into the kitchen.

Mrs. Kozlot got out of bed and was entering the kitchen when Lula entered the room. He shouted "Where's Annie?" "I want to see her," and "I'm going to kill her."

The girl wife hearing her husband's voice and remembering that she had left her husband the day before because they had quarreled and he had threatened to kill her, left her bed and hid herself in a closet.

Lula entered her room about the time she was closing the door on herself. He lighted a match and looked about the room but in his excitement failed to look in the closet. Not finding her he rushed into the kitchen where Mrs. Kozlot was, and raising his revolver fired at her point blank.

Resembled a Glaughter House

Mrs. Lula hurried from the house and called for Dr. Cullinane, who resides in Bridge street. The doctor was soon on the scene and did everything possible to alleviate the suffer-quarrel which Lula had with his wife Tuesday night at the house where they boarded in Tataville, Conn., where both were employed as operatives in a mill. During the argument held on Tuesday night Lula drew a razor and threatened to cut his wife's throat.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Lula arose at the usual hour and started for the mill as though she was going to work, but instead of going to the building where she was employed she went to the office and asked for her pay. After receiving her pay envelope she boarded a train for Lowell.

Upon arriving in this city she went to the home of her parents in Front street and told them how she had been treated by her husband, saying that she was afraid of him and could

Patrolman Joseph Clarke was passing through Lakeview avenue and hearing the report of the revolver hurried to Front street and upon entering the house found Lula and Mrs. Kozlot in an unconscious condition lying on the kitchen floor in large pools of blood, while there was another pool of blood in the hallway which came from the wound in Kozlot's arm.

Patrolmen John J. Sullivan and Conlon were soon on the scene and in a few minutes the police patrol and an ambulance arrived.

Hurried to Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Kozlot were placed in the ambulance and taken to St. John's hospital and Lula was placed on a stretcher in the automobile patrol and accompanied by Lieut. John B. Crowley was taken to the hospital.

The doctors after making a hasty examination of Lula knew that he was going to die, although they did everything in their power to prolong his life, hoping that there might be a slight possibility of saving his life.

The bullets fired at Mrs. Kozlot entered at the top of the breast bone and were found in her back. The chances are that the bullet penetrated the lungs. Her condition is very serious.

Kozlot's injuries are not serious.

When Capt. Atkinson was apprised of the shooting he ordered the police patrol sent to the scene. Lula was taken in the patrol to the hospital and Lieut. Crowley was detailed to act as guard over Lula until he would be able to be removed to a place of confinement, but one of the doctors at the hospital informed the police that it would be unnecessary for the police to watch the man as there was no hope for his recovery.

The body of Lula was this morning removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker John A. Finnegan at 179 East Merrimack street. The deceased is survived by a wife and two sisters, all of this city.

Some wise one upon reading this will say that it means that the new charter will be showed under but the application doesn't fit for you can't apply the term to that which does not already exist, so "can" that joke.

SHE DIED SUDDENLY

Woman's Body Found on Roof of House in Ford Street

A gruesome discovery was made this morning by Joseph Brouillette, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Amedee Brouillette of 56 Race street, when he found the body of Mrs. Maxine Gagnon, nee Amella Lumont, on the roof of her home, 38 Ford street.

Mrs. Gagnon, who was about 60 years old, went on the roof of her home at about 10:30 o'clock to lay out clothes lines. About one hour later the Brouillette boy, living in the same house but on a different street, was sent to the roof after clothes. When he reached the roof he saw a woman lying on the planks face downward. The boy rushed down stairs and apprised his mother of his discovery, saying that a woman had taken a fainting spell on the roof of the house.

Mrs. Brouillette climbed to where the clothes were drying and there discovered Mrs. Gagnon apparently senseless. The family were notified and a hurried call was sent in for the ambulance and Dr. George B. Calsee, and when the latter arrived he found that the woman was dead. Undertaker Amedee Archambault was then called and he took the body down stairs where it was viewed by Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs, who pronounced death due to heart failure.

The deceased never complained of being ill and this morning she apparently seemed to be in the best of health. She was well known in this city and her sudden demise will be a hard blow to her many relatives and friends. She is survived by five children, George, overseer at the Lowell Machine shop, Samuel, Mrs. Henri St. Pierre, Mrs. Joseph St. Pierre and Mrs. Arthur Robert, a brother. Severe Dumont and a sister, Mrs. George Perigny, all of this city.

Lawrence Co. Plans to Build Mill at Corner

The committee on streets gave a number of hearings on petitions for street improvements at city hall, last evening, the most important matter before them being the petition to widen Aiken street at the junction of Hall, by cutting off a triangular strip of land present were Aldermen Barrett and Connors. Councilmen Elliott, Bowers, Davis and Genest, City Engineer Kearney and Supt. Putnam were in attendance.

The first hearing was on the reopening of Marshall road on the petition of Connors Brothers.

Lawyer A. S. Howard appeared for the petitioners and asked that the road be reopened as it was before the railroad built its bridge there.

Two gentlemen named Hartford, owning property on the road, stated that the road was originally a public way but the road got so bad after the bridge was built up there that one of the horses on the "hurry-up" wagon met with fatal injuries there. Since that time a "private way" sign was put up.

Charles McKoon said that the road could be reopened at a very small cost.

Albert F. Greene, a property owner on the road; Mrs. Wesson of Fruit street, and several other property owners explained the dangerous and inconvenient condition of the road as it is at present. There were no remonstrants.

Aiken Street Widening

The next petition was that for the widening of Aiken street. Councilman Henry Achin was the first speaker and he said that the matter has been agitated for some years. It is one of the most dangerous spots in the city. The section is so thickly populated that the children play in the streets and the street as it is now is a menace to these children. He stated further that some few years ago it was contemplated taking a portion of the land owned by the Lawrence Mill company but he understood that the Lawrence company had plans in mind for a new mill on this land and hence it was decided to take a slice off the Harris property and he thought the city could get the property at a reasonable price.

Alderman Connors asked if the Lawrence company could not change its plan so as to allow the city to take a piece of the land.

Councilman Achin referred him to Mr. A. G. Swapp of the Lawrence company, who was present.

Mr. Swapp stated that plans were made for new mill buildings on that lot while the plans included the installation of machinery. Taking a slice of land from the lot meant more than the mere seizing of a few feet of land. It affected the entire lot, the shape of the building and the amount and run of the machinery.

Alderman Connors asked when the company intended to build and Mr. Swapp replied that that would depend on the condition of business.

"Will you build within 20 years?" asked Mr. Connors.

"I should hope so."

Alderman Connors spoke of seizing the land and Mr. Swapp stated that the seizing of a piece of a tenement building was not to be compared with the stopping the building of a five story mill. For the time being he said the cost of cutting off the tenement building might be more, but in the matter of taxes, and the employment of labor it was not to be compared with the seizing of the mill property.

In conclusion Mr. Swapp said that he was heartily in favor of the petition.

Robert S. Marden of the board of trade committee on highways appeared in favor of the petition and stated that he did not care to do anything to injure a corporation such as the Lawrence company, established with a large pay roll. He believed, however that to take a piece of the Lawrence property would be the easier way and it would give travelers an opportunity to see around the corner.

Alderman Connors asked when the Lawrence company would remove a part of the wall and Mr. Swapp replied that it would do no good to remove the wall if a building was going up.

Alderman Connors asked if the Lawrence company would remove a part of the wall and Mr. Swapp replied that it would do no good to remove the wall if a building was going up.

George E. Mongeau who favored the petition, stated that some one of the members should be taken off although he would care to see anything done to prevent the addition to any of our corporations.

Chief Hosmer of the fire department stated that the street was the worst spot in the city for the fire teams and something in his opinion should be done to remedy the conditions there.

Chief Hosmer would like your opinion as to just what should be done there," said Alderman Barrett.

"In my opinion," replied Chief Hosmer, "the best thing to do would be to take a little slice off each corner."

There were no remonstrants and the hearing was closed.

James E. Riley appeared in behalf of a petition for the widening of Manchester street. After describing the street conditions in Ayer city as being "rotten," Mr. Riley suddenly said: "My dream, Mr. Chairman, has always been to annex Chelmsford and Billerica to Lowell."

"If there are no other speakers on the petition I'll declare the hearing closed," chimed in Chairman Barrett and the annexation project was nipped in the bud.

The neighborhood was well represented at the hearing on the petition to extend Dingwell street from Princeton to Middlesex. Six taxpayers appeared in favor and as many against. It seems that there are several streets in the locality, one of which at least should be opened to Middlesex street, and opinions differed as to which one. The opponents of the petition claiming that the opening of Cashin street would accommodate more families than would Dingwell street. One speaker said that six families would be benefited by Dingwell street and 16 by Cashin street.

Several other petitions were heard after which the committee met and took action on them.

It was voted to have the city engineer and a sub-committee of two confer with the officials of the Lawrence Co. and the Harris heirs relative to the widening of Aiken street and it was voted to hear another view of the Marshall road.

The petition of Jacques Bolavert et al. for the acceptance of a part of Farmland road was referred to the city engineer for a profile.

The Manchester street proposition was laid on the table.

It was voted to grant the petition of John C. Kellier and others that Chase avenue be laid out and accepted.

It was voted to take a view of Dingwell and neighboring streets and secure estimates of the cost of extending the street in that locality.

It was voted to accept Fairfax street as petitioned for by Eugene G. Russell.

Favorable action was taken on the petition of E. J. Hill that a portion of Weed street be laid out and accepted and it was voted to lay out several other streets.

Petitions previously heard were taken up. Alfred Desjardins petitioned for a sidewalk in front of 124 Billings street, and it was recommended.

John G. Tucker petitioned that Orleans street be laid out and accepted from Hildreth street to Lakeview avenue. It was voted to favor the petition and to pay the assessed valuation of four cents a foot for 5000 square feet.

Robert G. Catherwood asked that Stratham street be accepted and extended to Lawrence street. The engineer was asked to get estimates.

The petition of Robert H. Mulno that Lawrence street be block paved from the railroad bridge in Lawrence street to Woburn street, was referred to the government of 1912.

It was voted to take views of Marshall road and Dingwell street this afternoon.

It was voted to refer the petition for the repair of Howard street from Middlesex street to Westford, and that Howard street from Hale street to the schoolhouse be referred to the superintendent.

Mr. Elliott asked relative to the repair of Plain street, and following discussion, action was deferred.

A BITTER STRUGGLE

Foss and Council Engage in a Wordy War

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Governor Foss and the executive council engaged in a bitter struggle all day yesterday at the hearings over the governor's appointments.

Governor Foss was denounced to his face by one of the council members, who objected to the conduct of the hearing. Councilor Glidden attempted to secure a vote against allowing Daniel J. Kiley to speak, and the governor refused to put the motion.

Kiley spoke in spite of the demand of the council to have a vote taken. Kiley denounced the council members for having refused to confirm the governor's appointments.

The council again rejected the appointment of William L. Reed, the colored messenger of the council, who had been appointed clerk of the juvenile court, and refused to hear any testimony regarding him.

Appointees Doomed

No action was taken in the matter of confirming the appointments, but it is stated that on Wednesday next at least two of them are to be rejected, and possibly the entire list may be rejected. Next Wednesday is the day after election.

One of the sensational features of the day was the story of Charles G. Wood, the proprietor of the New Bedford Times, who told of various scrapes he had been in while in quest of news. The incidents in question had been urged against the confirmation of Wood.

Charles Francis Adams, 2d, had sent to the council a stinging letter against the confirmation of Professor Garrett Drovers of Williams as member of the railroad commission on commerce and labor, of which commission Mr. Adams was a member.

Kiley Row

The first touch of real excitement in the day came during the afternoon hearing when Daniel J. Kiley broke in upon the hearing upon the appointment of Warren F. Spaulding to the prison commission and asked to be heard in the case of Professor Drovers. He said that he had been unable to be present when the Drovers appointment was being heard.

"Go ahead, Mr. Kiley," said Governor Foss.

"Object to find," interposed Councilor Glidden. "There are several people here who have been here all day and who ought to be kept waiting no longer. Mr. Kiley should have been here when the Drovers matters was being heard."

"Go right ahead, Mr. Kiley," said Governor Foss.

"Object to find," interposed Councilor Glidden. "There are several people here who have been here all day and who ought to be kept waiting no longer. Mr. Kiley should have been here when the Drovers matters was being heard."

"Go right ahead, Mr. Kiley," said Governor Foss.

Glidden Balks

"I will take a vote of the council on that," exclaimed Councilor Glidden. "I move that Mr. Kiley be not heard now and that we continue the name of Mr. Spaulding."

"Go right on, Mr. Kiley," urged Governor Foss.

"Your excellency, I am surprised," began Mr. Kiley.

"Oh, I am not surprised at all," interrupted Governor Foss. "Go on, Mr. Kiley."

Governor Foss then refused to put the motion of Councilor Glidden and Mr. Kiley secured the floor. He scored the council for its failure to confirm the governor's appointments. He attacked the railroad commission as being in the control of the traction corporations. He said that if the commission had not been in the control of the elevated line would have been stopped long ago.

When Mr. Kiley had finished speaking the hearing matter was continued. The Rev. F. E. Allen, Mrs. Elizabeth Putnam and Richard H. Dana were heard in favor of the Spaulding appointment. Mr. Dana attacked Mr. Pettigrove, who, he said, was a politician.

Secretary Hamlin read a number of letters supporting Mr. Spaulding.

Just as the council was going to take up the case of Charles G. Wood of New Bedford, who had been named on the board of conciliation and arbitration, Councilman Lovewell secured the floor and made a sensational attack upon Governor Foss.

Attacks Foss

"This is one of the worst conducted hearings I ever saw," said Lovewell. "I wish to enter my protest against the recent action of the chief executive. He has come in here and prevented the council from conducting its own hearing."

"I had the privilege of appearing before this council a few weeks ago in opposition to the appointment of David Stoneman of Boston to be a justice of the Dorchester court, an appointment which I may add was the most atrocious any governor of this commonwealth ever made."

"Made it a farce!"

"I want to say now that I never appeared before a more fair body of men than conducted the hearing in the Stoneman case. They conducted it fairly and properly and I am certain that they would have conducted this hearing properly had they been allowed to do so, but instead of that the governor butted in and made it a farce."

Frank S. Farnham of Brockton, with Myron L. Keith and T. J. Evans of that city, opposed the appointment of Charles G. Wood of New Bedford to be a member of the board of conciliation and arbitration to succeed Harry Morse of Haverhill.

They said that Mr. Wood was temporarily unfit for the position and that he does not properly represent the manufacturers as the law says he must do.

Wood's Defence

N. H. Selden of Haverhill declared that the manufacturers of northeastern Massachusetts are a unit in desiring that their present representative on the board be retained.

Mr. Wood was then heard in his own defence.

"I went to New Bedford 10 years ago and started a newspaper with a capital of $1200. Today I own the Times building. It is valued at $100,000. I have done this with my typewriter and my nerve."

Secretary Hamlin then read an attested copy of a record of the superior court for Bristol county showing that Wood had paid a fine of $100 last year for criminal libel. Mr. Wood was asked to explain it.

To Protect "the Boys"

"The libellous article was written without my knowledge," he said. "But I protect the boys in my office I assumed the responsibility for it. When the matter came to trial I was ill in a sanatorium. My attorney paid the fine because the district attorney refused to permit the matter to be continued."

Councilor Fletcher then inquired about an incident in the city of Lawrence where Wood had gone to jail.

Wood laughed.

Feigned Drunkenness

"The city editor of my paper assigned me to get a story of a real conditions inside the jail," he said. "I had to get in somehow, so I feigned drunkenness. I was taken in by the police. I played the part so well that even the judge was deceived and he declared the next morning that I was still drunk. I was fined $10."

Councilor Fletcher inquired if Wood was found guilty of carrying weapons.

Wood said he had pleaded "not guilty," but the record was changed and made to appear that he had pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to serve 30 days in the house of correction, of which he had served 17, when he was liberated by the county commissioners.

Wood also told of getting into the almshouse at Tewksbury to investigate charges made against it.

Colored Men Protest

Before the council adjourned William Trotter and the Rev. Mr. Johnson, both well known colored men, tried to speak in the matter of the appointment of William L. Reed to be clerk of the juvenile court to succeed Charles W. M. N. Williams.

They were not permitted to do so, however, on the ground that the council had again rejected the appointment of Mr. Reed at the meeting session.

The council continued the hearing upon the appointment of L. Warren Briggs to be a member of the board of insanity. It was stated that the council will not act on the matter of confirmation until next Wednesday, the day after election.

Strength for Weak Stomachs

When the blood is poor and thin, and the stomach in consequence is imperfectly supplied with oxidized blood and nerve force, the digestive process becomes slow and fermentation of the food goes on, with formation of gas and certain acids.

The pressure of the gas causes pain in the stomach; sometimes it affects the heart. When the gas is belched out through the mouth the patient is temporarily relieved. The sour risings in the throat and burning sensations in the throat and stomach are caused by the acids of fermentation.

There are plenty of things to neutralize these acids, or "sweeten the stomach" as it is called, but they do not cure the trouble. Pure, rich blood which will tone up the stomach is required as the following cures show. A careful reading of these honest statements is well worth while.

GAS ON THE STOMACH

The cure of Mr. G. W. Seaborn, proprietor of the Seaborn Sign Company, of No. 2 Brookline street, Cambridge, Mass., is a strong recommendation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for use in stomach trouble. He says:

"About four years ago I was troubled with a very bad stomach. I was short of breath, gas formed on my stomach, my legs felt as though they would give away from under me and I had dizzy, fainting spells which came on me suddenly. My work at that time was on high scaffolding and, as I nearly fell off once, I had to give it up. My mouth was dry and parched and had a bad taste in the morning.

"My doctor treated me for acute indigestion caused by a bad condition of the blood but gave me no relief that I could see. Then I tried many medicines but they did me no good and I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In a few weeks I was completely cured."

THIN BLOOD THE CAUSE

"I was so low with stomach trouble that the doctors said I could not live three months, but now I am well and it is all due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," says Miss Rosella Ostigny, of No. 114 Selwyn street, Central Falls, R. I. "The physician said my trouble came from poor, thin blood and bad circulation. It made me weak and thin. I had no energy or ambition. My food did not digest, gas formed and I was generally miserable until by my sister's advice I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They helped me in a short time and I continued using them until entirely cured."

HEADACHES AND DIZZY SPELLS

Mrs. Clara A. Graham, of No. 137 O street, South Boston, Mass., says:

"I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are one of the very best remedies for sick headaches and indigestion. I tried different kinds of medicine and was treated by doctors but received no relief until I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began to have stomach trouble as a result of overwork. I had gas on the stomach which would blast and cause me intense pain. There was a feeling as though something heavy was pressing on my stomach. I suffered dreadfully from headaches and dizzy spells and would have hot flashes across my eyes. It seemed as though I could not stand the pain.

"A friend told me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and they helped me from the start. I soon could eat and sleep better, the pain in my stomach left me and I rapidly grew well."

FOOD CAUSED DISTRESS

Mrs. Fred J. Smith of No. 28 Fraser street, New London, Conn., says:

"I suffered terribly with my stomach for a year and a half and could hardly eat anything. I had no desire for food and was distressed by everything I ate. Food would lie partly digested and ferment on my stomach, causing gas to form. Once in a while I had to vomit but usually I was unable to, although I felt nauseated most of the time. I was troubled with constipation. My heart would palpitate whenever I exerted myself like going up stairs and I often had dizzy spells with black spots before my eyes. I was restless and sleepless, nervous and easily excited. Occasionally I had violent headaches over and back of the eyes. My blood was thin and impure. I was colorless and had no strength or ambition.

"I tried different medicines and was treated by three doctors but received little or no help. I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking a few boxes I was greatly relieved. I continued with the pills and was cured. I have had no return of my trouble and give the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

SICK HEADACHES

Mrs. Laura E. Strout, whose address is R. F. D. No. 6, South Portland, Me., found quick relief. She says:

"After suffering with stomach trouble for eleven years I found permanent relief by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My stomach trouble began after a long illness. I had a craving for starchy foods and ate quite a large quantity of starch each day. I had sick headaches and my nerves were in a terrible condition. I was unable to sleep and I could not get up and dress. It was impossible for me to sit still for five minutes. I thought there was no help for me and that I would die.

"I tried several doctors but they did not help me. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Soon I could see they were benefiting me and after I had given them a thorough trial I was cured. I have been well and have had no occasion to take medicine since."

SEND FOR A DIET BOOK

The experience of sufferers from stomach trouble, who have tried the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, has been that their trouble has disappeared as soon as the blood was made pure. The numerous disorders of the stomach, as catarrh of the stomach, acid stomach, nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia of the stomach, gastritis, and lack of tone, have the same underlying causes. In each case the stomach is weak. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People supply the stomach with the strength it needs by enriching and purifying the blood. Pure blood gives tone to the nerves, muscles and glands of the stomach and makes it capable of properly performing the work of digestion.

Sufferers from stomach trouble in any form who have found their condition unrelieved or actually growing worse while using ordinary remedies, would do well to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A copy of our diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine company, Schenectady, N. Y.

S. J. MORGAN POINTING TO FRED O'DONOVAN AND EILEEN O'DOHERTY IN A DRAMA BY THE IRISH PLAYERS FROM DUBLIN AT THE OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Lady Gregory, the distinguished Irish dramatist who is coming to the Opera House tonight with the talented band of Irish players from the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, is a director of the Irish National Theatre Society, of Dublin, to whose devoted work is due the establishment and successful maintenance of the now non-commercial school of drama in Ireland. Lady Gregory is one of the most celebrated of Irish writers as well as an expert in stagecraft. She has written several delightful books for children in addition to the many successful comedies she has done for the Irish theatre. She is as vigorous physically and mentally as a woman half her age. She seems to find no difficulty in managing the affairs of the Dublin theatre, in addition to administering her large estate in County Galway. She has never been in America before and since her arrival in Boston a month ago she has been socially lionized and has been the recipient of much attention from the literary set of Harvard university. Her ladyship has a keen sense of humor, as might be expected from one who has written so many delightfully witty comedies. Until she came to America she had never had the experience of being interviewed by newspaper reporters. "I don't find the experience a dreadful one," she said smilingly the other day. "Indeed the young men and women from the newspapers eat such a sincere and delicious interest in one that it is quite flattering to one's vanity." Lady Gregory had her first experience as a public speaker in Boston, for she never before had made an address in public. Likewise she there first had an experience in the gentle art of handshaking, for at a reception she shook hands with some 500 Bostonians, men and women. She found it fatiguing but otherwise interesting. Lady Gregory is Irish to her fingertips. She was born and grew up in Galway and has never lived away from there. She knows the Irish peasant mind thoroughly for she has had opportunity to study its many splendid phases all her life. Lady Gregory is unfailingly de-

PLAYS GENUINELY IRISH.

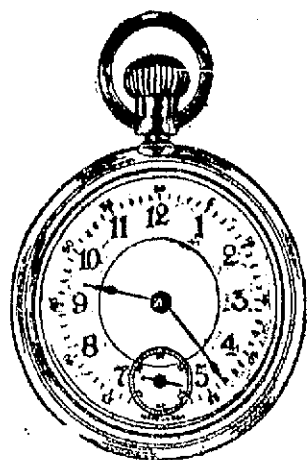

The plays to be presented tonight are thoroughly Irish. In the first, "Kathleen M'Hourigan," Ireland is represented by an old woman lamenting the loss of her sons; "The Building Fund," by William Boyle, is good as are all his plays, and "The Work House Ward," by Lady Gregory, is a delightfully humorous farce. All three plays have been highly enjoyed and appreciated wherever given.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"

The coming of "The Chocolate Soldier" to this city is set for Thursday, Nov. 16. Mr. Whitney has given a new grace and elegance to the production this season by the construction of new scenery, and by duplicating the costumes throughout, in order to maintain the high standard of excellence which has for years been associated with a Whitney production. In the Whitney Opera company the star system is unknown, and this eliminates all weakness in the minor roles which is the shortcoming of most light opera companies. The high degree of talent which Mr. Whitney insists upon in his companies is increased by the fact that every member of the company presenting "The Chocolate Soldier" can boast of a grand opera training.

monstration none ever dreamed that human voice could reproduce the harmony of the feathered songsters. There have been bird imitators galore before the public but there is but one Kellogg; only one man possessed of the power to reproduce bird sounds so perfectly as to attract the birds themselves to him. Mr. Kellogg's power is not produced through any artificial agency. He has a peculiarly formed throat that enables him to sing as the birds sing. Scientists have made a study of his gift but cannot explain it other than by saying it is abundantly gifted by the Almighty or Nature. Appreciating his wonderful gift, Mr. Kellogg has made a deep and intelligent study of bird life and the results of his study he tells to his audiences, illustrating his remarks by his bird songs, in one of the sweetest and most intensely interesting discourses ever given on any stage. It is elevating to the mind, charming to the ear and one feels better for having seen and heard him. But speaking of birds, no bird ever flew around a stage with any more rapidity than the De Vora trio in their dancing act including the diminutive and dark member of the combination who apparently is gifted with a boneless and rubber anatomy that defies all attempts to disjoin him. There are also comedians and Whittier in "Tuffy's Rise," depicting the funny experiences of a jolly little Irishman with a high-toned wife who is trying to butt into society on the sudden acquisition of considerable wealth. Mr. Leonard is a most worthy successor of the late Billy Barry. Mintz and Palmer mintz music and repartee into a most palatable pie, as it were, the audience eating it up with great relish at each performance. The Savvelli trio and their five educated bull pups have an act which is declared to be dog-gone good. Kimberly and Hodgkins have a novel piano and singing act that is as entertaining as it is novel. The Great Richards exemplifies the more wonderful possibilities of the dance and the bill in its entirety is one of the best yet offered. Seats for the concluding performance may be ordered in advance by telephone 28.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

A sporty husband, a loving and trusting wife, a woman of the world, an unsophisticated theological student and a chic and breezy housemaid all thrown together unexpectedly and under most embarrassing circumstances for all concerned is the situation upon which William Tremayne and Logan Fuller have constructed their funniest of comedies, "Lost—24 Hours," which the Donald Meek stock company is presenting in faultless manner at the Hathaway theatre this week. Just what a funny tale to describe adequately the unsurpassedness of the production. Practically every character is a scream and every member of the Donald Meek stock company is strong on comedy roles. Mr. Meek as the theological student with certain ideas on "how the rest of the world should conduct itself," caused a broad grin to envelop the house from the time he appears before the footlights until the close of the play and he is either falling or "butting in" almost continuously only to become mixed up in some ridiculously amusing complication. Miss Lucille Spinnery, the new leading woman of the company, makes a most charming and trusting wife of a rather naughty husband, a most exemplary wife, so the men who have witnessed the performances aver. Miss Spinnery, with the Hathaway audiences, for both in appearance and ability she is among the leaders of the stock world. Next week the company will present the beautiful comedy drama, "The Family," which has been presented in Lowell on one occasion only previously, having been given for one night only at the opera house, some time ago. Seats may be ordered in advance by telephone, 811.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"A Woman's Example," the high-class one-act comedy which is being given by Our Stock company at the Merrimack Square theatre this week is a clever bit of entertainment. Mr. Weston and the other three members of the cast are especially well fitted in the characters to which they are assigned and the results of their combined efforts are worthy of the favorable recognition accorded them at each performance. "The Laughing Horse," is another comedy sketch, of an entirely different type than the former. The humor is not quite so smooth but there's lots of it—an abundance in fact—and it certainly pleases. Jules Har- run and James Stanley are comedians whose acts are most enjoyable and the Manson Twins are two clever comedienettes whose act is especially clever. The motion pictures are new and novel and should please immensely. On Friday night the Merrimack Square Theatre Concert orchestra, Phil M. Alderman, leader, will feature selections from the opera "The Fortune Teller." Judging from the increased attendance at this popular playhouse it would appear that the efforts of the management in securing only high-class and clean vaudeville entertainment is meeting with the entire approval of the theatre-going public of Lowell. Telephone number 2053.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today the Theatre Voyons will show a biograph, "Love in the Hills," strong in plot and finely acted, that will be sure to please all who see it. "An Island Comedy" is one of the funniest and daintiest Edison comedies of the year and the Pathe Weekly will be sure to win approval. Some of the features of the Weekly are the "French Battleship Liberty," taken a few hours after the terrible explosion that wrecked her and clearly showing the destruction wrought by it. Another feature will be a monster blast at Allentown, Pa. in which over 10,000 pounds of powder was used. The musical program is novel and of the best kind.

ELECTRICS IN COLLISION

Motorman and 14 Passengers Injured at Somerville

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The motorman and fourteen passengers on a Charlestown Hill car were injured yesterday when the car bound to Scollay Sq. was struck by a Spring Hill car bound for Union square at the corner of Medford and Washington streets, Somerville. The motorman and "Pony Natchie" of Waltham who were in the front vestibule were the most seriously hurt. The motorman, James Frye, was badly but not dangerously injured while a dozen passengers were cut by flying glass or bruised by being thrown about. One of the cars ploughed a large hole in the side of the other and it was considered remarkable that more people were not hurt. Frye was sent to the hospital but all the passengers returned to their homes or continued to their places of business without assistance.

PARALYSIS CASES

Are Under Investigation at Chelmsford

Local doctors and others are somewhat interested in two cases of infantile paralysis in Chelmsford. The cases are not recent ones and the interest is being taken in them at this time is due to the fact that there were sick animals where both of the cases developed. Certain scientists have given as their opinion that the disease can be contracted from animals and the fact that there were sick animals where the Chelmsford cases developed is looked upon as more or less significant. It is too late now, however, to arrive at any positive conclusion in the matter but the discovery may be of value for future reference.

WAS LAID AT REST

Funeral of Daniel Lovejoy Yesterday

The funeral of the late Daniel Lovejoy was held yesterday from the home of his son, Roy F. Lovejoy, 812 Broadway and was largely attended, among those present being relatives and friends from Fitchburg, Hallowell, Lawrence, Boston, and Mr. George Healy of New Jersey, who in the 50's learned the knife-making trade with Mr. Lovejoy. The body lay in a room literally filled with beautiful flowers among which were a large clock from the employees of the shop, a number of sprays from the office corps and a five foot cross from the Knife Makers' association of New England.

The service which was of a simple nature was conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. R. A. Greene of Charlestown, and there was singing by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Thorne of Lowell. The honorary bearers were A. R. Woodworth, Freeman R. Shedd, Clark L. Langley and Charles T. Hanson. The body was borne to the house by the following: Fred Boynton, Charles F. Varum, Arthur R. Merrill, C. H. Hackett, C. George E. Thorne of Lowell. The funeral was in charge of Underwriter C. M. Young, and took place in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery.

The Lovejoy knife factory in Fletcher st., formerly owned by the deceased, was closed all afternoon, the entire force of help attending the funeral in a body.

THE WATER BOND

For High Service Water Loan Paid Yesterday

Yesterday the $75,000 bond for the high service water loan matured and was paid off by City Treasurer Stiles. Under the arrangement for a sinking fund the sum of $3500 was appropriated each year to pay off the entire loan which was contracted in 1881. The fund had increased so rapidly that it was not necessary to call for the $1800 appropriation during the past two years. Accordingly when City Treasurer Stiles was called upon to pay the amount today, he found that the fund amounted to $38,708.73, thus leaving a balance of $11,808.73. In addition to the $3500 that was left uncalled for during the last two years showed a very satisfactory surplus.

City Treasurer Stiles is well pleased with the result of this sinking fund and glad that it has been wiped out.

PRESIDENT TAFT AT MINE EXPLOSION EXPERIMENTS IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2.—President Taft was deeply interested in the explosions and mine rescue work at Forbes field under direction of the bureau of mines. Experimental galleries had been constructed and the explosions were caused in them. The president himself touched a button that caused one explosion, after which rescue crews equipped with oxygen helmets entered the galleries and brought out dummies, to which first aid was extended. Director of Mines J. A. Holmes, Governor Tener of Pennsylvania and Miss Mabel Boardman, head of the Red Cross, were with the president during the experiments. Before the exhibitions on Forbes field the president was present when Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth christened the New Orleans, a replica of the first steamboat to navigate the western rivers. It was built 100 years ago by Mrs. Longworth's great-grandfather, Nicholas J. Roosevelt.

SPEEDY MARRIAGE

Were Friends Less Than 24 Hours

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—In the cards sent out by Mrs. Ethel Roman Rose of Narragansett Pier, announcing that her daughter Gladys and Ralph Fuller Nye were married at Jersey City on October 31, there is concealed a romance which for speed and unusual features, wins this year's record.

The two married after an acquaintance of less than 24 hours, when Rose had come to New York to discuss her plans for a wedding with another man.

Miss Rose, who is 21, inherited a fortune from her father, James A. Rose, who was the owner of hotels in Dayton, Ohio, and Narragansett Pier. Her mother is the largest property owner at the pier, where the family has been prominent many years.

Miss Rose came to New York about Oct. 8 and lived at Bratton Hall with her chaperon, Mrs. Jane Adams. She was tentatively engaged to a jeweler, who has a large establishment on Broadway, and really came to the city to make the engagement final and to begin plans for her trousseau. The rest of the story was told by Mrs. Adams yesterday to a reporter as follows:

"We were having dinner at the hotel Astor and Mr. Nye was dining with some friends who were acquainted with us. He was introduced to the party at 8 p. m. and we agreed to go to the theatre together."

"Mr. Nye came to New York a few days prior to see his parents, who live at Springfield, Mass., because he expected to go to Brazil with an engineering party."

"After the theatre we went to Maxine's and then Gladys and I went home. At the hotel she told me she was going to be married to Mr. Nye next day."

"The next morning we stopped and bought the wedding ring, and they were married at the city hall in Jersey City at 3:30 p. m. Then they came back to New York and Mr. Nye went to the Long Acre hotel where he had been staying, and Gladys came back to Bratton hall with me."

"We had an engagement for dinner with the man to whom Gladys was engaged. At dinner he tried to talk matters over with her and she said, 'No, I can't marry you—I am engaged to someone else.' At the theatre when she took off her glove, he saw her wedding ring. Then he charged her with it, and she admitted that she had been married in the afternoon."

Mr. Nye is said to be a distant relative of "Bill" Nye, humorist.

DISABLED STEERING GEAR

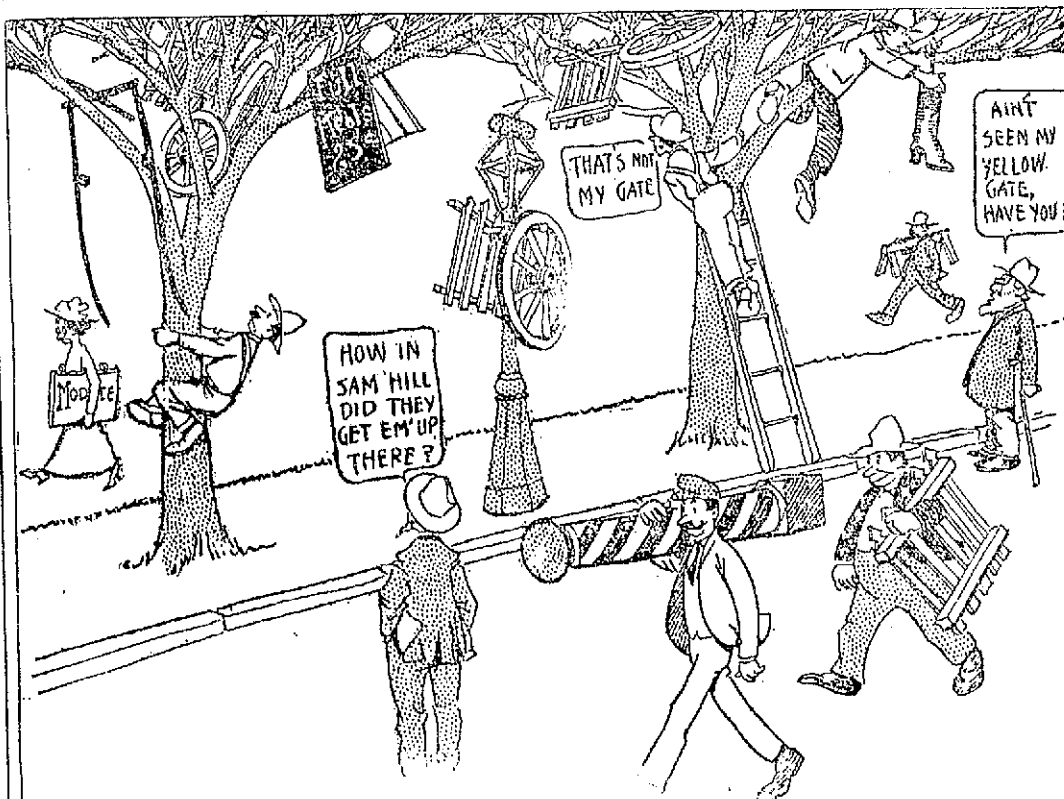

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Delayed nearly three days by disabled steering gear, the steamer Manitou from Antwerp reached here yesterday. The trouble occurred on Oct. 24 when the ship was in mid-ocean and caused some excitement among the hundred passengers, for a furious gale was blowing and when the liner stopped she pitched and rolled violently. The Manitou lay helpless for 24 hours and part of that time she was broadside to the sea. During that time the passengers were not permitted on deck because of the danger of being washed overboard.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of industry council, Royal Arcanum, was held last night at Odd Fellows hall in Middlesex street. Regent James E. Gorman presiding. Informal talks were given by D. D. P. G. Robert F. Sweet of Boston and Supreme Trustee John J. Hogan of this city.

The plans for the grand class initiation to be held November 9, were discussed and the members were enthusiastic when informed that Supreme Regent P. T. McFadden of Richmond, Va., would grace the occasion with his presence. Brothers John Jackson and Roane added to the enjoyable program with songs. Several applications were received and suitable action taken.

Royal Arcanum

The members of the different councils of the Royal Arcanum in this city and Billerica are looking forward with considerable interest to the class initiation which is to be held in Lincoln hall next Thursday night. The speakers of the evening will be Supreme Regent P. T. McFadden of Richmond, Va., one of the most prominent men in the Arcanum circles and known as one of the ablest speakers in the south. Mr. McFadden is a clergyman in Richmond and when he accepted the office of supreme regent, his church voted him a leave of absence for two years, fearing to lose him and his ability if they should fill the pulpit permanently. A visit from the supreme regent is an honor that can fall to but few councils and the Lowell councils are planning a royal reception to him. Highland council will be in charge, assisted by the other councils. The following compose the reception committee: Past Grand Regent Alonzo G. Walsh, John J. Hogan, Albert W. Davy, Eugene I. Sullivan, James E. Gorman, Fred E. Jones, Joseph M. L. Fortier, Anders Johnson and William F. Hanson.

THE SABREY CLUB

The members of the Sabrey club held their regular meeting at the home of Rev. E. Victor Higelow last night. The officers of the club for the ensuing year were installed and plans were made for the spring entertainment of the club. After the business meeting a regular old fashioned Halloween party was held and it was quite late when the guests departed. The new board of officers is composed as follows: President, Frank B. Hall; vice president, Harry Dobson; secretary, Alvin Sykes and treasurer, James Dow.

Tariff Talks With Textile Workers

—No. 2—

The Manufacturer and His Dividends

A reason frequently advanced for a reduction in the tariff upon such a necessity as American made clothing, is that manufacturers make for themselves enormous profits, pay the lowest possible wages, and become "robber barons" out of an over-protected industry.

Who are the Manufacturers of New England?

In nearly every one of the great textile industries of Massachusetts the public at large are very heavy investors. Figures prepared by a recognized authority show that in sixty mills, all located in New England, most of them cotton and worsted mills, there are more than thirty-five thousand stockholders. Of these stockholders nearly sixteen thousand are men, fifteen thousand are women, and five thousand trustees of estates. While many of these stockholders are small holders, and a few of them are large holders, it was noted that an average holding represented a value of thirty-eight hundred dollars. With these mills owned by people who, on the average, have an interest of less than four thousand dollars apiece, does not the talk of "robber barons" sound absurd?

Attention is called frequently to the fact that New England mills pay dividends ranging from six to twenty per cent, with occasional stock dividends that make of some of them investment properties returning excessive amounts to investors. On the surface this may seem true, but few people appreciate what what care the corporation laws of Massachusetts have provided for the issuance of stock for Massachusetts corporations in such a way that capitalization cannot be excessive, and still fewer people realize that returns from these corporations, if figured on actual value, and actual cost of stock in the market, average less than five per cent to the man who invests his money in them.

An investigation of nearly a hundred mills in New England shows a capital of one hundred and twenty-two million dollars upon which the least available figures for a replacement value show a conservative estimate of that value slightly in excess of two hundred millions of dollars. This would mean an addition to the capital stock of these companies, if present day replacements were necessary, of over eighty per cent more than that which they actually have.

The best available figures of the relation of capital to product, in some of the important industries of various states show that when the Southern and Western legislator insists that he is paying an excessive price for the products of New England because of excessive capitalization and large dividends, he is not true to the facts. The following comparisons are of interest:

State	Capital	Products
Alabama, Iron and Steel	$35,742,508	$34,052,898
Mississippi, Lumber, etc.	25,399,926	26,795,080
Kentucky, Tobacco	22,691,157	24,913,049
Indiana, Iron and Steel	57,583,261	56,121,823
Michigan, Chemicals, etc.	55,366,200	56,939,464
Wisconsin, Iron and Steel	58,497,933	45,347,612
Massachusetts, Textiles	268,376,021	283,364,585

These figures are selected to represent the most important manufactured products of three Western and three Southern states, in comparison with Massachusetts.

THEY SHOW that the iron and steel manufactured in Alabama and sold largely for the construction of Northern buildings and industrial development, represent a relation of capital to product of one hundred and five per cent.

THEY SHOW that Mississippi lumber going into the construction of the hard pine frames in practically every mill in Massachusetts, represents a relation of capital to product of ninety-five per cent.

THEY SHOW that the tobacco smoked by the working men of New England, imported from the tobacco fields of Kentucky, bears a relation of capital to product of one hundred and fifty-two per cent.

THEY SHOW that the chief industry of Indiana, iron and steel, bears a relation of capital to product of one hundred and two per cent.

THEY SHOW that the chemicals from Michigan which make up a large part of the domestic supply of chemicals used by the New England mills, represent a relation of capital to product of one hundred and fifty-three per cent.

AND THEY SHOW that the chief industry of the state of Wisconsin (from which half one of the leading Republican agitators for tariff reform "because of the excess capitalization of the New England mills"), whose iron and steel to the amount of nearly forty-five millions of dollars goes into the building construction of the nation, carries a capitalization compared to product of one hundred and twenty-eight per cent.

Against these figures the textile industry of Massachusetts shows a capitalization with relation to products of ninety-six per cent.

Dividend returns upon these investments are available only in part, but enough is known of the generous profits received by the industries of the states mentioned above, to prove that they have been largely in excess of the returns ever known by most of the industries in Massachusetts.

These figures do not make it clear why the textile industries of Massachusetts should be made the object of special attack, yet practically every Senator and Congressman from every Southern state, including Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas, voted to pass the Democratic bill affecting this tremendous Massachusetts industry, which of itself alone makes an industry larger than the entire manufactured product of any five states in the South, but which with other important industries associated with it, makes up a total product for Massachusetts in every year, of nearly one billion, five hundred millions of dollars.

The voters of Massachusetts have too long failed to appreciate the tremendous importance attaching to this large industrial life of their state, which has grown so naturally as to attract not even their attention and notice, yet which today represents a value of manufactured products greater than the total manufactured products of all the above mentioned Southern states put together.

IN THE LIGHT OF THESE FIGURES, IMPOSSIBLE OF CON-TROVERSION, THE VOTER OF MASSACHUSETTS IS ASKED TO SAY WHETHER OR NOT THE PROPOSED REDUCTION IN THE TARIFF IS JUSTIFIED ON THE PLEA THAT IN THESE TEXTILE CORPORATIONS THERE IS EXCESSIVE CAPITALIZATION, AND EXCESSIVE DIVIDENDS ARE BEING PAID TO THE STOCK-HOLDERS.

THE VOTER IS ASKED WHETHER IT IS HIS DUTY TO ANSWER SUCH LEGISLATION AS THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY HAS PASSED, BY AN ENDORSEMENT OF THE EXCESSIVELY CAPITALIZED AND DIVIDEND-PAYING INTERESTS OF THE WESTERN STATES, OR ANSWER IN THE INTERESTS OF THE 60,000 STOCKHOLDERS WHO OWN THE FACTORIES OF MASSACHUSETTS, AND THE 500,000 OPERATIVES WHO WORK IN THEM.

POINTERS ON THE CHARTER

The Sun has received the most emphatic statements in favor of the commission form of government from so many cities that it would be impossible for us to publish more than one-third of the letters before the end of the campaign. In every letter received it is asserted that the new charter has brought about improved conditions, and that there is no reason whatever why the working classes should be opposed to this form of government. On the contrary most of the replies state that with party politics eliminated the laboring classes have better opportunities to get what they want in the line of public parks and public improvements of all kinds than they had under the dual system.

"The laboring men here are all in favor of the new charter and the people as a whole are well satisfied with it and would not change back to the old system. It is the initiative, referendum and recall that give the people absolute power. Our provisions in regard to public utilities and franchises help to control the so-called interests."

The fact does not seem to be appreciated by a certain class of voters in this city that although the municipal council will be confined to five members it will be under the absolute control of the people so that they can demand what they want in legislation and force its adoption. They can object to measures that the council may pass, and those measures must be held up until approved by the people. One-fifth of the voters can force an election for the recall of any member of the council. This gives the people absolute control over their government between the principal elections, something they never possessed before. Is that taking power away from the people?

But some will assert that this or that party, this or that organization, can put up a ticket that will sweep the field on election day. It must be understood that any citizen can get his name on the ballot at the primaries who can secure 25 signatures by his nomination paper. It is true that organizations may put candidates in the field, but they cannot compel the voters to elect them. The voters can do as they please on election day without dictation from anybody and it rests entirely with them who shall be elected to the municipal board.

It is noticeable that the opponents of the charter have practically no arguments against it. They simply deal in bogeys or pick flaws for the purpose of having something to say. They ask why is not the percentage for the recall lower, why must a candidate who wants to run in the recall election get ten per cent. of the vote in order to get his name on the ballot. These questions are unimportant. If an election were ordered on a ten or fifteen per cent. vote there would be a demand for a recall when there would be no justification, and as a result the voters would not sustain the demand at the polls. Again, if any candidate in a recall election could get on the ballot with less than ten per cent. of the voters there would be so many candidates that the purpose of the election would be defeated.

The points brought up by the opponents of the charter might be compared to the criticism of a man who scums a new building and finds fault with the color of the brick, the finish of the window sills or the panels of the doors. These are trifles that do not affect the main structure, and so the arguments urged against the charter criticize unimportant details and overlook the great provisions that give the people the power of direct legislation, that center responsibility and provide for the prompt and business-like administration of the city's affairs under all circumstances.

It is really discouraging to find the bewildering array of false statements that have been dinned into the ears of the people at the mill gates, at the tannery of the American Hide & Leather Co. and on street corners by speakers who claim to be the friends of the working people. The Sun has taken particular pains to investigate this charter question very fully, and from all sources and all directions comes the unanimous opinion that the new charter is the best form of municipal government in America, that it does not centralize power in the few but on the contrary gives the people absolute control over the municipal council, that the commission form of government is not favored by public utility corporations, that it is not favored by the money power and that the statement to the contrary made by some of the "antis" over and over again in this campaign is without any foundation whatever. It is equally untrue that the laborers in any of the city departments have anything to fear as in all probability they would have steadier work under the new charter than they have under the old.

There are five classes of people in this city who oppose the charter, and they may be set down thus:

1. All the office-holders.
2. All the office-seekers.
3. All the grafters.
4. The people who are under the influence of the three classes mentioned.
5. The people who see bogeys and who are unwilling to believe that the men who favor the charter have no other motive than to secure good government for our city.

It is useless to appeal to the first three classes, and it is almost equally hopeless to appeal to the man who believes that the charter involves some deep laid scheme of the republican party or the committee of sixty to capture the offices. The mistake here made is in supposing that any agency can capture offices when the party designation is gone.

But if bad men should get into office; if two or three "train wreckers," as we say, should get in—what of it? If they attempted to rob the city, would the people permit them? If they tried to hand out special privileges to corporations or public utility companies, could they deliver the goods? Not if the people hold the referendum.

If three or five men try to bond the city for a large debt, could they get away with it? Not if the people want to stop them, for no action of this kind can be pulled off in a night to take effect at once. Oh! no, the people must get time to think it over and within ten days or thirty days, according to the nature of the action, the people can tie it up until passed upon at the polls. It is difficult for the man who has been accustomed to the old methods to realize the vastly different mode of doing business provided by the new charter.

Yet so positive are the results and so beneficent the change that the people who oppose this charter, whether they know it or not, are fighting against their own and the public good.

Foreword: The following remarks are addressed to men only; the ladies will not appreciate them:

To the ordinary man there comes a feeling of pleasure when, for the purpose of having his hair cut, he sits down in a barber's chair. Having just ended a day of hard work, he sinks into his well padded seat, rests his limbs in a comfortable position on his footstool and relaxes his tired body against his cushioned back.

As the room is warm and conditions are inviting, he immediately feels an inclination to doze. This he would like to do but for dream of conversation, the rustling of newspapers being turned over, the opening and slamming of the door and the voice sounding "You're next, sir."

From those distractions, however, his thoughts are turned to the barber's comb as it moves through his hair. It is such, in a measure, conveys a feeling of relief, unlike the of a friendly hand being laid upon his head. Then there comes a titillating pleasure when, as the barber's fingers run through his locks, the snip of the scissors is for the first time felt. Each separate strand of hair it would seem is for a moment imbued with life and reality.

As the comb of the sharp blades feels the contact of a friendly hand, the points of the cold shears are run along the "side lines" and as they press sharply against the skin, he experiences a feeling of some uneasiness lest they be pressed too forcibly into a shred of "meat."

The sensation that he feels, too, when the scissors "clip, clip, clip" along the sides and back part of the head has a pleasant tickling flavor; except, of course, when the instrument approaches the region of his ear. Not the least agreeable feeling, either, is that which comes over him when the chair is slowly swung around. Being drowsy, he laughs at the fact that he is on a moving chair which is gradually coming to a stop, but this sensation is quickly dispelled when he feels the keen, icy blade of a razor shaving the bristly hair about his ear. The cutting completed, his hair is dosed with a variety of mysteriously-scented liquids which will be efficacious indeed should they have as forceful an effect on his locks as on his organ of smell.

After his hair has been scuffed and rubbed and scented and rubbed again in vigorous fashion, it is neatly combed and brushed and he, regretfully getting out of the comfortable chair, puts on his collar and with the feeling that, in some unaccountable manner, a new head rests on his shoulders.

"Next gentleman!" Now, if among the thousands of lady readers of this paper, it is possible that, after our foreword, one has had curiosity enough to read our remarks, we would say to her: "Don't you wish that Providence had conferred on you the blessing of being a man?"

A NEW DRINK

BAY RUM ENOUGH TO MAKE THE WHISKEY GAMEY

WORCESTER, Nov. 2.—Judge Samuel Wiley of the Central district court was introduced to a new drink yesterday. In the more than a generation that he has handed out sentences to law breakers he has heard of a lot of new drinks that make a man do unusual things, but yesterday's was the limit in deceptions.

"Take a half-pint of whiskey and put into it enough bay rum to make it gamey." That is the recipe and it is warranted to make any sane man fight.

According to the story told Judge Wiley from the witness stand the deception caused Amos Williams and Simon Douglas, both of whom are near the three score and ten age limit, to fall out.

Williams appeared in court with his face slashed by a razor from forehead to chin on the left side and the fingers of his left hand cut. He accused Douglas of wielding the razor and Douglas admitted he did, but said he was prompted to defend himself when he saw Williams and a man named Lord coming at him with a chair.

After Judge Wiley heard all the evidence he ordered Douglas' discharge from a complaint charging assault upon Williams.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

HELD UNDER AUSPICES OF DELTA ALPHA SOCIETY

An enjoyable Halloween party was held under the auspices of the Delta Alpha society of the Worthen Street Baptist church Tuesday evening at Highland hall. There was a large attendance, an excellent entertainment program was carried out and the affair proved to be a success in every particular.

As the guests entered they were met by ghosts, who directed them to the mystic cave, where fortunes were told. There were a number of tables stationed at points of vantage in the hall, each being decorated in a manner which was in keeping with Halloween.

They were under the charge of Miss Margaret Corey, assisted by the following committee: Fortune cake, Gladys Arnold; mystic cave, Albert McQuesten, chairman, Alice Taber, Theresa Colby, Lillian Arnold, Lillian Swanson, Elizabeth Colby; cake and ice cream table, Lila Field, chairman, Jennie Wright, Branchie Wright; candy table, Mildred McQuesten and Edna Corey, chairman; Gertrude Davis, Sylvia Haum; refreshments, Gertrude McQuesten, chairman, Lottie Corey, Lila Field.

During the evening a laughable farce in one act was given, entitled "A Man From Brandon," with following cast:

Phil Lester, captain of Brandon football team; Elden Field, Jeremiah Decker, M. D. Kirby, Insane hospital; Ethel Swanson, Dan Moulton of Brandon, Miss Janet's nephew; Wm. Leegatt, Miss Janet Spencer, a maiden lady.

Gertrude McQuesten, Bernice McQuesten, Miss Janet's niece, sister of Dan; Lila Field, Bertha Melvin, Bernice's friend, Lottie Corey.

Nora, Miss Janet's maid; Little Dunn. The other numbers on the program were a reading by Miss Eva Robinson and piano solos, Carl O'Malley.

Refreshments were served after the entertainment and later games were enjoyed.

SERIOUS INJURY

Daniel Powell Fell From Step Ladder

Daniel Powell, an employee of Collins, the florist, fell from a step ladder in Associate hall shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and sustained a fracture of the first cervical vertebrae of the neck. He was removed in the ambulance to St. John's hospital, where he is being treated.

Powell was decorating the interior of the hall for the minstrel show which is to be held there tonight and was hanging a streamer when his foot slipped and he fell from the ladder to the floor a drop of about 15 feet. He struck on the back of his neck on the floor.

He resides at 10 Oak street.

SERVED ON JURY

MAN SAYS THAT HE LOST HIS POSITION

BROCKTON, Nov. 2.—An unusual case in which the court and the labor unions are concerned became known last night. A shoe worker whose name is withheld, served on the jury in the Mazzola murder case in Plymouth last week, but before he left the city he told the foreman of his shop that he was drafted and offered to furnish a substitute. It is said:

The foreman said that the substitute was unnecessary. It is said, and when the operative returned he was discharged.

He reported the case to his union and they to the joint Shoe Council, who took the matter up and appointed a committee to investigate.

The business agent of the union communicated with Judge Quinn of the superior court regarding the man's discharge.

It was said last night that if the man is not restored to his place the union will carry the case to court.

MAY NOT RECOVER

JAMES SMILEY FELL DOWN AN AIRSHAFT

MANFIELD, Nov. 2.—James Smiley, a carpenter, was seriously injured by a fall of 30 feet here yesterday afternoon and Dr. R. M. Latham, the attending physician, could not say last night whether his patient would recover. It will soon be determined whether or not Smiley's back is broken.

But for discovery made by plumbers as they were picking up their tools at the new High school building, Smiley might have remained for a long time at the bottom of an airshaft.

Plumbers heard groans in the cellar and to extricate Smiley they had to break away a brick wall.

Smiley remembers nothing of his fall and cannot tell how it occurred. He was under observation last night and may be removed to a hospital today.

He is now at his home on Charles street.

SAM WALTER FOSS CLUB

The members of the Sam Walter Foss Literary club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Cheney, 60 Sheldon street. There was a large attendance despite the disagreeable weather and the afternoon was spent in a delightful manner. A short business meeting, presided over by Mrs. E. D. Foss, was held, after which Mrs. Willis Hatch introduced Elmer E. Harris as speaker for the afternoon.

Mr. Harris gave a very interesting talk on Y. M. C. A. summer schools, outlining the program of work done since the formation of the first school started in East Boston in 1886, up to the present time. During the social hour, which followed, refreshments were served. Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Shirley, Mrs. Donlonson, Mrs. Lake and Mrs. Bert Cheney assisting in the dining room. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Marshall, 78 Warwick street, November 15.

GRAND RECORD MADE

UNDER COMMISSION CHARTER IN MEMPHIS,

TENN.—POPULATION 131,105

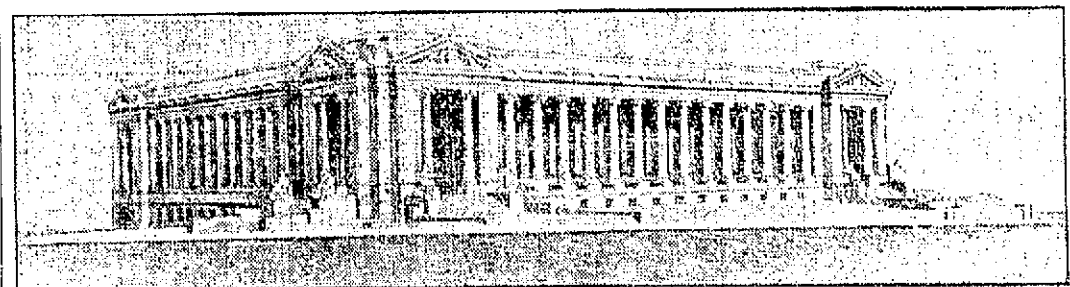

MINSTREL SHOW

WAS HELD AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The young people of the First Presbyterian church were given quite a treat last night in the form of a minstrel show which was held in the Sunday school room of the church. The affair started at 8 o'clock and was very interesting and amusing throughout. The interlocutor was Mr. Lyons, while the end men and women were Mr. Sturtevant and Miss Ruth Clement and Mr. Hailey and Miss Agnes Murphy. The four were ably assisted by a chorus of 50 young men and women. The program opened with a piano solo, "Come Back to Old Virginia," by the accompanist of the evening, who did this and all the accompaniments in splendid style and was responsible in a great measure for the success which the singing won. Then came an overture by the whole company. The next number was a solo, "Under the Southern Moonlight," by Miss Leona Small with the "entire company" in the chorus. Miss Ruth Clements then held a very amusing conversation with Mr. Interlocutor. Then came the hit of the evening, "The Railroad Rag," sung by Mr. Sturtevant and the entire company in the chorus. Miss Murphy then had a very interesting session with Mr. Interlocutor. Mr. Robert Bacon then sang "Don't Wake Me Up," and succeeded in waking up Mr. Sturtevant on the right end who then and there proceeded to have a most interesting interview with interlocutor and the audience enjoyed this immensely. Miss Campbell then sang "My Heart Has Learned to Love You," and then both ends had a few remarks with each other. Then the program closed with the singing of "You'll Do the Same Thing Over Again," by Mr. Hailey, "Oceanside Roll," by Mr. Hailey, "Outside of That You're All Right," by Miss Ruth Clements, "Davy Jones' Locker," by Mr. Hailey, "I Want a Girl," by Mr. Lyons and then came the "grand finale" Alexander's Rag Time Band, by Miss Agnes Murphy and the entire company. 12 piece orch., Talbot hall, Fri.

TOLD BY MAYOR

A BIG CHARTER RALLY

Was Held at the Centralville Social Club Last Night

A largely attended rally in favor of the proposed charter was held last night in the Centralville club rooms, the speakers being John H. Murphy, secretary of the board of trade, Dr. J. Elzear Lamoureux and Thomas J. Goyette. The attendance numbered over 200 and he said besides a couple of exceptions, they were all attentive listeners, and although a straw vote was not taken at the close of the meeting they all seemed to be in favor of the new form of government. The meeting was opened and presided over by John H. Deaulieu, who in appropriate remarks explained the purpose of the gathering, and he introduced as the first speaker, John H. Murphy, who was well greeted. Mr. Murphy started his talk by telling the assembly that he would not take much of their time to explain to them that he was not a high brow, although he had on several occasions been accused of being one, and then he went on giving a very good explanation of the work done by the committee of 60, and how the latter was formed of people of all creeds, all nationalities, and voters from every district. The question of a new charter has been attempted in the past and turned down," said the man in the audience asked Mr. Murphy if a man lost his position through drunkenness, would it be fair for him and his family to have this on record at city hall. This question was answered from the floor, by a man who replied, "Let him keep sober." The speaker explained the principal points of the charter and closed his remarks by answering a number of questions. He was followed by Dr. J. Elzear Lamoureux, who in a very interesting but brief speech compared both forms of government. He also explained what red tape it is at the present time to get anything from the city fathers, taking as an example a man who wants a sidewalk in front of his house. In this case you file your petition with the common council who will take it up when it has time, then after a couple of months, they will vote to turn it over to the committee, and when the committee have time they will take up your request and vote to view the place. The petition is then referred to the council, and when the latter have time they turn it over to the aldermen, and again when they have time they take a vote on it, and if it is accepted, it is then turned over to the mayor, who signs it when he has time, and the result is that you have your sidewalk the next year. "But with the new form of government," said the speaker, "you will go direct to the commissioners with your petition and the chances are that your sidewalk will be laid out in a very short time." The doctor also spoke of the school board, explaining why this is being abolished in the new form of government. He went along explaining that during the four years he was in the school board, as far as he remembers, four of the commissioners who knew very little on the educational question, had to be taught for months, and then when a good question was brought up, they would most of the time vote against it, but when there was a vacancy to fill, each of these four men always had a competent candidate from their ward. The doctor as well as the other speaker finished his remarks by answering several questions.

JOHN H. MURPHY, Sec'y Committee of Sixty.

speaker and he explained how this last one was passed in the legislature for adoption by the people of Lowell. He explained what a difficult task it was to bring it to the present stage, and how an attempt to block it had been made by a local politician, who claimed that the citizens of Lowell were not in a position to determine whether or not the new form of government should be adopted. In explaining about the charges of the opponents when they claim that the referendum is nothing, Mr. Murphy said if it had not been anything, the legislators would not have hesitated so much in giving it to us. He then took up the principal arguments of the opponents, such as contract labor provided against by a state law and the importation of foreigners. On contract labor Mr. Murphy said that the city would be better protected by the new charter than by the present form of government, explaining that a man in the employ of the city or in doing city work, cannot without violating a state law work more than eight hours per day, and furthermore he said that a foreman who under the new charter discharges a man from his work, has to mention the cause of the discharge in the record book which will be public. Achievement of Twenty Months is Really Astounding

The city of Memphis, Tenn., is the largest in the world under a commission government, except Birmingham, Ala. It has five commissioners, one of whom, Hon. E. H. Crump, is mayor, and the achievement under this commission government for the past twenty months is certainly worthy of careful consideration. It is appended.

THE LETTER OF INQUIRY

The circular letter from this office was as follows:

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 16, 1911.

Dear Sir:

As the citizens of Lowell are soon to vote upon the question of adopting the commission or Des Moines form of charter in all its important features and as the opposition claims that the new charter will take the power away from the people, that it is backed by the money power in Wall street and means a return to slavery, will you kindly answer the following queries for the information of the citizens?

- 1—If these claims have any foundation?
- 2—Under such a charter can any particular class of citizens have special advantages over any other class?
- 3—Has this form of charter improved conditions in your city or would you go back to the old form of charter?
- 4—Is there any reason why the working classes should not prefer such a charter to the old fashioned double chamber system in which partisan politics is predominant?

By answering these questions or giving any other information in regard to this charter you will greatly oblige Yours very truly, etc.

MAYOR CRUMP'S REPLY

The record is given below and the following is Mayor Crump's reply through his secretary:

Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

By direction of the mayor I attach hereto answers to your favor of the 16th instant, relative to the workings of the commission government in Memphis. Under separate cover I am sending you a booklet just issued, which tells the story of progress here under the new form of government, and naturally is the entire truth, as it is taken from the records, and were it not so, would be torn to pieces by political opponents.

Very truly yours,
T. M. Phillips,
Secretary to the Mayor.

Mayor Crump's Answers

- No. 1. "None whatever."
- No. 2. "None at all."
- No. 3. "Conditions undoubtedly improved. People satisfied."
- No. 4. "Absolutely none."

Record for 20 Months

Below is a summary of twenty months' accomplishments under commission government in Memphis, Tenn., a city of over 131,100 population.

It would be impossible to mention every betterment perfected by this administration, under commission government, but the following stand out particularly strong, when considered in connection with public needs and demands:

Tax rate reduced to $159, lowest in the history of Memphis.

Collected from delinquent taxes of other years and by closer attention to present taxes, money in excess of budget estimate.

Collected in all fee-earning departments more money than the city had ever received in a similar period.

By a compromise with the old Union Station company, secured $30,000 worth of property for the city, besides the payment of all costs and attorney's fees.

For the first time in the history of the city, made a trade with banks by which interest was paid on daily balances and less charged on overdrafts. This earned the city $12,000 to $13,000 last year, and will be considerably more this year.

For the first time in the history of the city, collected the full amount of turnpike funds due from the county court, amounting to some $22,500 annually.

Collected in poll rentals, unsuccessfully tried by other administrations, the amount of $7,474.60.

Secured the actual construction of subways.

Secured the construction of the first cross-town car line in the history of the city.

Extended the conduit system, so as to include a much larger area in the business section for underground wires.

Greatly increased the lighting facilities of the city, in which, however, the city has been greatly handicapped by the slowness of the Consolidated Gas and Electric company in filling orders.

Made war upon unsightly old "shacks," by which nearly 500 were torn down, and the majority of them replaced by modern buildings.

Ordered many fire escapes placed in buildings about city.

Extended the sewer system to the new territory annexed in September, 1909. The water department is now laying its mains to take care of these sewers.

Repaired and made sanitary all fire engine houses left in a most deplorable condition by the previous administration and made the equipment effective.

Erected a fire engine house on Lamar Boulevard; a double fire engine house on McLemore avenue and another double fire engine house on Adams avenue and Maiden Lane. A fourth new engine house will be built in the neighborhood of Jackson avenue.

Erected a mounted police station on Barksdale avenue. The mounted men get around fast, and holdups, once so common in the residence section, have practically ceased.

Now erecting a police station at the corner of Adams avenue and Second street, which will be the handsomest and most convenient in the South, under a commission composed of Dave Halle, chairman; D. M. Armstrong, secretary, and H. E. Craft.

Instituted drills of patrolmen under Maj. Kit Deffry, who has developed the force into a body of finely drilled and disciplined men.

Established a traffic squad for Main street, by which accidents in the congested sections have been virtually eliminated.

Have also perfected a system to check automobile speeding, greatly reducing accidents from that source.

Remodeled the old section of the city hospital, added a third wing, and beautified the surrounding premises.

Remodeled and modernized equipped the market house on Basile avenue, restoring it to its rightful place as a public convenience.

In the first year laid 37.29 miles of sewers.

Also constructed 30.6 miles of streets, and practically paved 9.60 more under the front foot assessment plan, covering 105 streets.

Graded, curbed and guttered 34 streets and alleys.

Rounded up and placed in shape 14.1 miles dirt streets.

Resurfaced 11.7 miles of street, and hauled and spread gravel upon 85 streets and alleys.

Laid 52.67 miles of five-foot sidewalks, containing 1,380,645 square feet of material.

Each of the foregoing records in 1910 was the greatest in its line in the history of the city.

Street paving and sidewalk laying is now at its height, and will continue until bad weather sets in. This year contracts have been awarded on 19.5 miles of streets under the front foot assessment law, which will cost approximately $943,769.25. Up to August 1 there had been 29.4 miles of sidewalk laid, as well as a vast amount of other work performed, the full records of which will not be complete until the end of the year.

The interior of the shed was decorated with the national colors and the members of the company appeared in full dress uniform. There were many of the officers from the other companies stationed at the armory and many of the officers of the staff, including Capt. Louis Hutton of the commissary department, Adjutant George H. Downs of Jamaica, and some of the officers from the non-commissioned staff. Minor's orchestra provided excellent music for the long dance order. The committee in charge of the dance was composed of First Sergeant Linscott, Sergeant Crowe, Private Tetrault, Private Kemp and Private Safford.

Previous to the dancing an interesting lecture was given to the non-commissioned officers by Sergeant Lowell U. S. A., the subject of his address being "Military Courtesy." The non-coms gained many valuable pointers from this interesting speaker.

UNDER AUSPICES OF COMPANY C HELD AT ARMORY

The second of a series of dancing parties to be held under the auspices of Company C of the Sixth regiment, this season was held last night at the armory in Westford street. There was a very large attendance but there was plenty of room to enjoy dancing, which was held in the spacious drill shed.

The interior of the shed was decorated with the national colors and the members of the company appeared in full dress uniform. There were many of the officers from the other companies stationed at the armory and many of the officers of the staff, including Capt. Louis Hutton of the commissary department, Adjutant George H. Downs of Jamaica, and some of the officers from the non-commissioned staff. Minor's orchestra provided excellent music for the long dance order. A Helpless Invalid

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is, it would almost seem, to blame for her own wretchedness. Read what this woman says:

Richmond, Mo.—"When my second daughter was eighteen months old I was pronounced a hopeless invalid by specialists. I had a consultation of doctors and they said I had a severe case of ulceration. I was in bed for ten weeks, had sinking spells, and was pronounced to be in a dangerous condition. My father insisted that we try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought me six bottles. I soon began to improve, and before it had all been taken I was as well and strong as ever—my friends hardly recognized me so great was the change."—Mrs. Woodson Branstetter, Richmond, Mo.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what another woman says:—

Jonesboro, Texas.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for myself and daughter, and consider it unequalled for all female diseases. I would not be without it for anything. I wish every mother in America could be persuaded to use it as there would be less suffering among our sex then. I am always glad to speak a word of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you are at liberty to use this testimonial."—Mrs. James T. Lawrence, Jonesboro, Texas.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

The testimonials which are constantly being published in the Pinkham advertisements are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine, honest, and given without reward in any way whatever.

N. Osgood. There was a good attendance despite the unfavorable condition of the weather and, in behalf of the charter committee of 60, the chairman thanked those present for their atten-dence. Mr. Harris explained how the movement for a new charter began and said that it was a little over a year old. He said there was no ulterior or selfish motive back of the movement for a new and modern charter. He said it had been charged by those opposed to the new charter that there were selfish motives behind it but such statements, he said, have no foundation in fact. He said that the material appearing in the daily papers relative to the new charter was absolutely true
and said that persons interested in the welfare of the city should read every line of it.

Mr. Harris introduced as the first speaker, William H. Wilson, chairman of the committee of sixty. Mr. Wilson told, briefly, the work connected with the preparation of the new charter and said that if adopted it would be an instrument of lasting and permanent benefit to Lowell. He said that the new charter was taken from the char-

Who Presided at Rally.

ters of other cities under commission form of government and it was the
to fit portions of these charters to the departmental conditions of Lowell.

He referred to the recall, referendum and initiative and said that the mayor under the present charter has little or no authority and has no authority over the police except by virtue of courtesy. He said he had made no personal criticism of any one connected with the present city government
and that he had none to make.

"It has been urged," he said, "that the common council is a school for young men and that were the case it is important that it should be preserved, but your observation and mine does not lead to that conclusion for we have seen young men go in there and we have known that they were subjected to conditions for which they were not responsible and by which they were not benefited."

"Once upon a time, at city hall, I heard the late John P. Murphy make the statement that every man, rich and poor, was worth just $2 to the city, and I considered that a very terse and very true statement. If the poor man dies the city loses $2 and if the rich man dies the city loses $2. If a taxpayer dies his property continues to pay the taxes. When the money belonging to the city is collected it goes into the city treasury and it belonges to the voters. Every man has an equal interest in it and you and I are responsible for the proper expenditure of it. The money is not being properly expended at the present time and conditions cannot be improved under the present charter, for it is utterly impossible to fix responsibility. The mayor is helpless. He can exercise his veto power and the city is out all. The appropriations committee made up of men of no previous experience, gets together, hears the wants of heads of departments, and proceeds to parcel out the money. The money is spent under the direction of a man you and I never voted for and whom you and I can't direct and to whom you can't make a complaint because we can't place the responsibility."

"The normal vote of Lowell is about 15,000 and about $1,700,000 is collected annually so that we are all responsible for about $100 each. This means that we are responsible for the condition of our streets, our sewerage system, our water system, etc. There is no end to the interest that we should have in our city. You pay more money to the city than you do to the state and nation combined and in order to serve the best interests of the city we should vote for the charter, which, once adopted, has never been abandoned."

Francis W. Qua was next introduced.
"There is no office that the state or city could give me," he would take," said Mr. Qua. "My period of office has gone by but my interest in the city has not gone by. There is no motive in my interest in the charter except to help my fellow citizens to do the right thing at the polls."

"In 1895 I was chosen by the city to hold office. I held it for eight years and it was a department that had to do with all other departments. I became intensely interested in the subject of municipal government. I am not inclined to say that the city government is corrupt. The large nu-ber of members of the city government in my time were honest, earnest men doing the best they could under the circumstances. It has been said,
and truly, too, that there is something wrong with municipal government in the United States and the larger the city the worse the government. But there is in our democracy one hopeful feature. When a thing gets too bad
we make up our minds that the conditions must and shall change. The best minds have been studying the problem why democracy fails where it should be at its best—the municipality. The government of your city is ten times more important to you than
the government of your state and twenty times more important than the government of the United States.
"Lowell was among the first cities
to organize in this commonwealth.
The organizers were imbued with the idea of democracy and they looked to the national and state governments.
They didn't realize that a city government is not analogous to state or national government. They are for the making of laws while the municipal government is intended for the performance of certain duties, the care of streets and things of that kind. The state makes the laws and the city makes the things."

WELCOME FOR FOSS

The Governor Addressed Four Big Rallies Last Night

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Four addresses at rallies held in Chelsea, Revere, Lynn and Salem constituted Gov. Foss' campaign work last night, and in each place where he spoke he was welcomed by enthusiastic gatherings.

But it was at the final meeting of the night, in the North street skating rink in Salem, that he was accorded one of the heartiest and noisiest ovations of the campaign.

SAVED CHILD FROM DEATH
"After our child had suffered from severe bronchitis for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a hard cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctors' medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy. For colds, croup, whooping cough, asthma, and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by A. W. Dow & Co."

Twice Refers to Council
At Revere, where about 100 staunch democrats had assembled, the governor, after exhorting the voters to elect democratic candidates to the state legislature and the executive council, said: "We've had a good deal of trouble with the council, but we must make them understand that they are there to confirm road appointments and not to make them themselves. We need a new council anyway, so see to it that you elect democratic councilors as well as democratic representatives and senators."

At Salem he was even more emphatic in his denunciation of the executive council, for he said: "You undoubtedly know that I have been having a great deal of trouble with my council. The members of that body not only want to have the power of confirming appointments, but they also want to make them, but if I'm going to be governor, I want to govern, and I intend to do so, and will do so, insofar as it lies in my constitutional power."

Fitzgerald Shows Applause
"Well, we're coming strong, boys!"

Gov. Foss' Speech
Gov. Foss in his set speech said in part:

"The people of Massachusetts in this election should ignore all the petty jealousies and attacks of my opponents and vote for the candidate whom they believe to be the best man for the position."

"Don't overlook the tremendous significance of this election. The whole country is watching to see whether you vote to go ahead or vote to stand pat."

"This year marks Massachusetts as a birthplace of progressive legislation. A Republican victory would kill every progressive measure we have started and forbid the enactment of any more."

"Every progressive measure pending today in this state is a progressive measure. The Republicans have fished with some of these issues, but they have not become law until a Democratic governor took hold of them. That's the difference. One party has used them as bait; but the other has brought actual progress to the public policies of Massachusetts."

"I propose to build up the agriculture of Massachusetts and make it profitable to the farmer and more productive for the good of every one."

"I intend to secure legislation to help young boys and girls in choosing their vocations wisely and thus increase their efficiency and insure their self-supporting power."

"I propose to secure a far greater development of our inland waterways, in order to furnish cheap transportation for our raw materials and to break the railroad monopoly."

Initiative and Referendum
"These are some of the progressive measures on which I am running for re-election. Here are some more:

"I intend that the people of Massachusetts shall secure the privilege of choosing the men they approve as candidates for the United States senate. What have my opponents to say on that issue?"

"Furthermore, I demand that the people shall have the right to vote directly on legislative measures. That is the initiative."

"They must have the right to reject legislative measures passed against their interest by the secret influence of special interests. That's the referendum."

"There's only one way to vote on these issues, my friends. The Republican platform is absolutely silent upon them; the Republican candidates pledge themselves to absolutely nothing."

"But you have read our platform. You know where I stand."

"And remember one thing more. 'It isn't my fight, it's your fight. And I'm in it with you.'"

"It isn't the Democratic party's fight. It's the fight of the people of Massachusetts."

"And the people will win!"

Walsh Attacks Advertisements
In his speeches at Lynn and Salem David L. Walsh said in part:

"The most unfair, the most invidious and the most wicked attempt to mislead the people in this campaign is being made; not by the Republican orators in their utterances on the stump, but by great corporations acting in collusion with Republican campaign managers by specious, unfair, misleading and untruthful statements, advertised in the newspapers by these great tariff-benefited corporations."

"The statements made by one of these corporations particularly, and published as a political advertisement in the evening paper of Monday, Oct. 29, are not only misleading and untruthful, but in spirit is a violation of the election laws of Massachusetts. I refer to the advertisement published by the American Woolen company and signed by William M. Wood, president."

"In referring to the textile industries of Massachusetts this advertisement says:

"When a political party proclaims that it is going to close these Massachusetts mills or force them to remove to another section of the country it is like a declaration of war on the prosperity of this community and of every man or woman who reads these words."

"This statement is an absolutely malicious and lying charge against the Democratic party. I challenge Mr. Wood or any other officer of the American Woolen company to point out when or where the Democratic party proclaimed that it was going to close these mills or force them to remove to another section of the country. In this statement Mr. Wood is deliberately mendacious and has gone beyond the limit of fair play, decency or honesty in political discussion."

Violate Spirit of Law.
"These advertisements are a clear violation of the intent and spirit of chapter 483 of the acts of 1908 of our election laws. This act states, section 1. 'No business corporation... shall pay, or contribute in order to aid, promote, or prevent the nomination or election of any person to public office, or in order to aid, promote or antagonize the interests of any political party.'"

"It is perfectly clear to any fair-minded man that Mr. Wood and his company, by these advertisements, are paying or contributing to aid and promote the interests of the Republican party and its candidates, and paying to antagonize the interests of the Democratic party, and to prevent the election of its candidates, and are deliberately violating the spirit, intent and purpose of these provisions of our election law."

"But he and his corporation will in all probability not be proceeded against or made to bear the penalty imposed under section 2 of chapter 483 for the violation of this act, because of the fact that the attorney general of the commonwealth is a Republican partisan official. I predict that the prosecution of Mr. Wood and his American Woolen company will be dogged by the Republican attorney general."

WOMAN FINED $15
She Stole Two Yards of Cloth From Local Mill

José Vlachka was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging her with the larceny of two yards of cloth, the property of the Tremont & Suffolk mills.

Through her counsel, Lawyer Silverblatt, she entered a plea of not guilty, but at the conclusion of the hearing of testimony the court found the woman guilty and ordered her to pay a fine of $15.

According to the testimony offered, the woman was employed at the Tremont & Suffolk mills and last night, when leaving the mill a special officer of the corporation, seeing that she had a bundle under her arm, approached her and asked what was in the bundle.

She said nothing and threw the bundle away. He picked it up and finding that there was a piece of an unfinished double blanket in the bundle placed the woman under arrest.

The defendant said that she did not think the material was any good and she was taking it home in order to make aprons to wear in the mill. Cross-examined by Major M. J. Noyes, who conducted the government's case, the woman said she was employed in the carding room and that she took the cloth from the weave room.

Drunken Offenders
Dennis A. Bloom, who is on probation for non support of his wife, entered a plea of guilty to a complaint of drunkenness. Mrs. Bloom appeared against her husband and said that she has had no peace with him since the court ordered him to pay her $8 a week. She said he is continually taunting her about the money and threatening to do her harm. She also said that he is drunk the greater part of the time. Judge Hadley decided that it was time to let Bloom understand that he cannot do as he likes and he was ordered to pay a fine of $5 for drunkenness and furnish bonds in the sum of $500 to keep the peace for six months.

"The land of Canaan is a good place for you to go to," said Judge Hadley to Allen M. Wheeler this morning. Allen belongs in Cannon, N. H., and came to this city to see the sights. He made a tour of inspection of the different saloons along the line and when he awoke this morning he found that he was in a cell in the police station and minus about $30. The circumstances of the case were told the court and Judge Hadley decided that the man had been sufficiently punished and gave him a suspended sentence of three months in jail and told him to go back to Cannon.

Daniel O'Leary, a parole man from the state farm, will be returned to that institution. Thomas Kitterney and Michael Healey were fined $5 each and two first offenders were fined $2 each. William B. Ford was sentenced to six months in jail.

Louis Gardner pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with drunkenness and a fine of $8 was imposed, and purpose of these provisions of our election law."

"But he and his corporation will in all probability not be proceeded against or made to bear the penalty imposed under section 2 of chapter 483 for the violation of this act, because of the fact that the attorney general of the commonwealth is a Republican partisan official. REPUBLICAN RALLY

Congressional Quartet Appeared on Opera House Stage

Despite the inclemency of the weather there was a large gathering at the Opera House last evening at the big Republican rally.

Dick Griffiths and harmony dispensers of the National band dodged the rain drops and paraded the streets before the rally, thus drawing up a large following, whom they escorted to the theater. It was a night of "big guns" for four real live congressmen were among the speakers: The Hon. Butler Ames, the man from home; Hon. George J. Lawrence of Iowa; Hon. James W. Goode of Iowa; and Hon. Frank B. Willis of Ohio.

In addition to them the spot light disclosed on the stage: Ereson B. Barlow, candidate for senator in the eighth Middlesex district; Horace S. Bacon, candidate for register in North Middlesex county; Victor Jewett and Henry Achin, candidates for representative in the 17th district; Hon. Joseph H. Hibbard, James McDowell, John Jacob Rogers, Hon. George E. Putnam, James Gilbert Hill, Herbert L. Chapman.

After the opening overture Congressman Ames opened the show as presiding officer. In the course of his monologue he said:

"In this district 82 per cent. of the cotton operatives come from foreign countries, and 80 per cent. of the woolen operatives come from foreign countries," he said. "Why do they come? Because of the cheap labor conditions in their own country."

"In the last election, after we had given careful and conscientious study to tariff conditions, and had acted in the real interests of the country, we were almost kicked out of office. The House is now under Democratic control, and the chairman of each committee is from the south."

"What do these men know about white labor? They don't care about northern industries, and yet some of our northern congressmen have sided with them, and have had the effrontery to come back and ask for a vindication."

"Remember, the eyes of the country are on you next Tuesday. This is one of the most important elections since the Civil war. Let Massachusetts set the example for other states."

Hon. J. W. Goode.

The next act was Goode—Hon. James W. of Iowa. Mr. Goode in part spoke as follows:

It is a hard task to make a tariff law that will suit all parts of the country."

Massachusetts has 14 congressmen and there are 391 members of congress all told. In Iowa, we have no cotton or woolen mills, but I was very glad to be one to vote to sustain the tariff. I have voted for the cotton and the woolen bills and his veto of the boot and shoe bill."

"In the boot and shoe industry you are paid 27 cents an hour on the average, while in countries of Europe the average wage is, nine cents an hour. I don't see how the boot and shoe industry here could live against such competition. In the woolen mills of Europe, the employees receive 60 per cent. less wages than the employees of this country. The cotton mills of Europe show somewhat similar conditions."

"To obtain the information necessary as to the cost of production at home and abroad, we have employed 100 experts to go through the country and to Europe; and on their reports the republican party relies to reach an intelligent conclusion."

"I believe in high wages. I like to see a prosperous community. As to the claims made that the cost of living is high here, let me say that the cost of high living is the trouble. Americans get the best."

"Your governor has been talking about the price of food. Now, I come from a state which, with others nearby, is engaged in producing food and I contend that we are as much entitled to protection for our industries as you are to protection for your industries."

"The standard of living is high in America. You must remember that the shoe operatives get three times as much pay for their work as the shoe operatives of Europe; that our woolen operatives get 30 per cent. more than those of Europe; that our cotton operatives get twice as much as they do in Europe."

"When Mr. Foss was here last Thursday, he used this very industry."

Health and Beauty Hints

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Mrs. S.: A "made" complexion, never looks real, and if you continue using cosmetics the skin will grow rough and unsightly. The spumax lotion and the sure you will be delighted with results. Stir two tea-spoonsful glycerine in one-half pint of water, then add four ounces water. When cool apply sparingly to face, neck and arms and rub lightly until it dries. The spumax lotion is soothed, healing, cleanses the skin of all impurities and banishes the oily, sallow look. Use this lotion and you will have a complexion rivaling any made by artificial means.

Mrs. G.: It is dangerous to disregard the laws of nature, and unless you employ a system you may have a run of sickness. I would suggest making up the following old-time blood cleanser and taking a tablespoonful three times daily: In a half-pint alcohol dissolve one-half cupful sugar, then add one ounce karoene and hot water to make a quart. This tonic will expel impurities from the body, repair waste tissues and restore lost appetite as well as give you renewed strength and vigor.

Myra: The pyroxin treatment will make your lashes grow long, thick and curly. Brush carefully then apply it to lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Eyebrows can be made to grow heavy and glossy if you put pyroxin on with finger-tips. Don't get any where hair is not wanted. Druggists sell pyroxin in original ounce packages.

M. O.: The only quick and sure way to remove fuzz from the cheek is to apply a delicate paste. Let it remain two or three minutes, then rub off with the hand. The fuzz will come. Only in rare instances is it necessary to use the second application. Delatone costs a dollar for an original ounce package, but it is worth it to rid the skin of superfluous hair.

Mrs. O.: Glasses at your age, I presume, are quite necessary. However, if you will get an ounce of crystals and dissolve it in a pint of cold water and put two or three drops in each eye every day, you can overcome the need of them. Keep up this simple treatment and before long your eyes will take on a youthful sparkle and brilliancy. As you will no longer be troubled with weak eyes.

Hope: Don't wreck your nervous system by dieting, because by taking ordinary parroties found in all drug stores, you can reduce your weight to where you want it and not suffer any inconvenience of ill after-effects. Four ounces parroties should be dissolved in a pint-and-a-half hot water, and when it cools, take a tablespoonful before each meal. This parroties treatment will make you feel better, and will supply catarrhs in an original package, and without leaving the skin flabby or wrinkled or marring the form's symmetrical lines.

Miss X.: No, catarrhs will not injure the most sensitive scalp. It contains no "free" alkali and makes a white, thick lather that soothes and heals a tender scalp. Itching remedies ever bit and dust, dandruff and excoriates, and promotes a healthy condition. After a catarrhs shampoo the hair dries quickly, evenly, and is soft and glossy. Any druggist can supply catarrhs in an original package, and a teaspoonful dissolved in hot water is ample for a first-class shampoo.

Rose B.: (1) I never advise using powder or cosmetics because of their tendency to clog the skin's pores and cause roughness of the skin, pimples, blackheads and other complexion troubles. (2) You will find a plain almond cream-jelly splendid for reducing large pores and cleansing the skin of impurities as well as imparting a delightful softness and freshness to any complexion. To make this greaseless cream-jelly, stir two teaspoonfuls glycerine in one-half pint cold water, then add one ounce almond. Let stand several hours before using, then apply generously and massage in well. No matter how unlovely the complexion may be, this simple almond cream-jelly will make it radiantly beautiful.

Anxious: Baldness among women is nothing short of a calamity, and really suggests carelessness or indifference to care of the hair. You can restore the natural color and silkiness to your hair and make it grow thick and beautiful. If you make and use this simple loyle. Into a half-pint alcohol pour a half-pint water, then add one ounce every day, you can overcome the need of them. Keep up this simple treatment and before long your eyes will take on a youthful sparkle and brilliancy. As you will no longer be troubled with weak eyes.

mills in the country. It produces from $38,000,000 to $35,000,000 worth of woolen goods yearly, while as I have said the production in the whole country amounts to the astonishing total of $460,000,000. This industry is one of the greatest in the country and there should be no reckless reduction in duties based upon guesswork. I submit that it is much more sensible for congress to wait a few weeks for the facts gathered by the tariff board than to rush recklessly into legislation which might bring distress to thousands of our people.

Congressman Willis.

Congressman Willis was what Congressman Will Stevens of Keiths would call an "added attraction" on the bill, for he came without invitation, which of course does not mean that he "butted in," to use the vernacular, as he was a most welcome addition to the bill, coming from the Buckeye state, which gave the country William McKinley, Mark Hanna, Tom Johnson and O'Sullivan's Rubber heels.

"As a citizen of Ohio, I have just one regret that my ancestors left Massachusetts years ago and went west. That regret is that I cannot vote next Tuesday for a man like Robert Luce for lieutenant governor. After hearing Mr. Luce discuss the record of Gov. Foss, I am convinced that the republican party has made a splendid choice in its selection of a candidate for lieutenant governor. The next time Gov. Foss gets out a pamphlet, he will be more careful as to its contents."

"I came to Massachusetts in response to no special invitation, but simply with a desire to find out how this state regards the policy advocated by the democratic party with reference to the tariff. I came here to satisfy myself as to whether or not the people of Massachusetts were willing to be carried away by a policy that will close their mills and drive their men into the streets. For you must know that your action next Tuesday will have an important bearing on the vote cast throughout the country. Massachusetts is the test."

I stood before the state house at Boston today, and as I gazed upon that magnificent structure and the monuments about it, I thought of the proud name achieved by Massachusetts in the making of this great country. This state sounded the first note in the American revolution. The state originated the idea of a meeting of representatives of government. This state was the first to send troops to the front in the Civil war, and her soldiers were the first to shed their blood that slaves might be free.

PAINFUL INJURY

Man Received Wound
Over the Eye

Mr. Joseph Champagne of 30 Lilley avenue suffered a painful accident last night when he fell in Aiken avenue and received a bad wound over the eye. Mr. Champagne was returning from his work and when he reached the Centralville end of the Aiken street bridge, he crossed the street opposite Gauthier & Lemire's blacksmith shop. The glare of the fire in the shop blinded his eyes and he tripped on the shaft of a wagon standing close to the sidewalk. He fell headlong on the curbstone and received a bad cut over the eye. His wound was treated at the Lowell hospital, where the attending physicians took six stitches to close it.

How Weak Kidneys

Cause Rheumatism

How Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills Unfailingly Restore Kidneys and Bladder—Cure Rheumatism.
—Trial Package Free!

Every one knows rheumatism is caused by excess of uric acid in the system. The poisonous accumulation is there because the kidneys fail to filter it from the blood. Kidneys are diseased, too weak to perform their full duty.

Naturally the thing to do is to restore the kidneys to normal—make them extract and expel the uric acid poison. That's how to really cure rheumatism—there's no other way.

That's how Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills cure. That's why their cures are honest, not make-believe—permanent, instead of lasting only while the effect of the medicine lasts.

No matter what the form of rheumatism—articular, inflammatory, muscular—whether a your back (lumbago), your feet (gout), or in any part of the body—there's one remedy you can absolutely depend upon. Due that not only stops every ache and pain, but that banishes their cause.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills drive out the poisons—cleanse the clogged kidneys—strengthen and invigorate them, so they do their work as Nature intended. If troubled with any rheumatic condition, any kidney or urinary trouble, don't delay treatment one hour! There are no ailments more destructive—that so quickly lead to fatal results—if not promptly checked.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are sold under a positive guarantee. Druggists are authorized to refund money in case of dissatisfaction. Prices, 75c and 50c. Sample package free, if you'd like to try them first. At druggists, or sent direct by Derby Medicine Co., Easton, Mass., Mich.

SUPT. WHITCOMB

Says New Charter Idea is Inevitable

"What do you think of the new charter?" asked a reporter of The Sun, of Supt. of Schools Whitcomb, this morning at city hall.

"It is a part of a world-wide movement of the people to rule. It is the one thing that was ever invented to give the people power. Under it they will have power all the year round. It is inevitable and cannot be checked. It may not necessarily come to Lowell on next Tuesday but come it will eventually to every city in the United States," replied Supt. Whitcomb.

Supt. Whitcomb's remarks are worthy of more than ordinary consideration by reason of the fact that they come from a selfish motive. In the years gone by he has gotten along very comfortably with all school boards, while under the new idea he will be confronted with entirely new and untried conditions.

WORKING GIRLS' HOME

On the last page of The Sun last evening was an item relative to the Halloween party held at St. Patrick's home, on Tuesday evening, sent in by a practical joker and accepted in good faith, having been signed. This party sending in the item meant to be funny but failed miserably, doing a painful injustice to people who did not participate in the festivities. Had not the article been signed it never would have found its way into the columns of The Sun even though it had contained a truthful statement of facts. But the sender signed it in a foolish attempt to be funny, and in so doing has caused deep pain to most estimable and innocent people, some of whom are in no mood to join in any hilarity even at Halloween.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

NOT GUILTY.

"Never darken my door again."
"Who ever darkened your door? Not me. All I ever did was to darken the room when we wanted to spoon."

LOOKING AHEAD.

"If we quarrel like this now, what will we do after marriage?"
"Well, if you think I'm going to rush blindly into matrimony without finding out who's boss, you're mistaken."

INTERESTED.

"I hear they're going to give a divorce coupon with every marriage certificate."
"And how many coupons does one have to save to get a piano?"

NOWHERE.

"Just one little word would make me so happy."
"Yes, but where will you find a woman who will stop with one word?"

POSSIBLE.

"I think we could be very congenial, don't you?"
"How much do you earn?"

ANXIOUS.

"What's George waiting still?"
"While—Not very still. He acts kind of nervous. Guess he's got 'ter propose."

WONDERFUL AUCTION SALE

Geo. H. Wood is now conducting the greatest AUCTION SALE ever known in this city. People who attend the auction day after day and carry home some of the good things marvel at the ridiculously low price paid for the goods and wonder why Mr. Wood is getting rid of his stock in this manner.

Mr. Wood is recognized as a man who does things. Now he wants to raise $20,000 and is going to do it even if he doesn't get a fraction of what the goods cost him. The auctioneer has been instructed to offer up any article which you may call for, be it the Watch, Ring, piece of Cut Glass, China, Dried-a-Brace, etc., etc.

Mr. Wood has just received a large import order of Japanese China, which he placed early last spring and it was too late to cancel it when he received notice to vacate his former store. This China is considered a handsome set, ever shown in Lowell and you can buy it at the auction at your own price.

This is the greatest opportunity for people to buy their Christmas presents. Get in line, join the crowd. Watch the people buy, hear the auctioneer talk; it's better and more lively than a show. Handsome Souvenir given free to ladies Friday. So you see you win anyway.

Customers who wish to buy in the regular way may do so at any time at reduced prices. The same clerks who were at the office here will give you the same careful attention. Bring your Optical Work, Watch Work, Clock Work and Jewelry Repairing to us and expert repairers will serve you at once.

BIG CLASS INITIATION

Gala Event by the Local Eagles This Evening

Lowell Aerie of Eagles will have a gala night tonight when a class initiation of about 40 members will take place before about 1000 guests. The class will be initiated by the aerie. In the class are many well known citizens. The degree work will be done by the aerie's celebrated uniformed degree staff, the fame of which extends far beyond the confines of the city, the staff frequently being called upon to officiate for out-of-town aeries having exemplified the work before a monster meeting of Reading aerie on Columbus day.

After the meeting and degree work there will be refreshments and an entertainment which will be presided over by President Patrick McManis. Lowell aerie now numbers about 800 members and is still steadily growing, being one of the largest aeries in this vicinity. The meeting will be held in Foresters hall.

STRONG ARGUMENTS

Continued
The city is the instrument through which the work is done. There is absolutely no need of a double branch city government. All the government has to do is to make a few bylaws. It isn't the business of the city to legislate at all. "If you ever hear of a corporation with two chambers and a superintendent at the head with veto power? There is one very strong argument in favor of the new charter. There are several very strong arguments but the one that stands out most prominently is the fact that not one city that has adopted it has changed or sought to change or to turn back to the old form the people will have an opportunity of government. That to me is a exercise a choice. If you don't get bet-

Anti-Charter Rally

LYON STREET SCHOOL HOUSE

TONIGHT AT 8 O'CLOCK

MICHAEL J. DOWD WILL PRESIDE

Speakers—James F. Miskella, John P. Kenney and Others.

EVERYBODY INVITED

M. J. DOWD, President Anti-Charter Club
JOHN P. KENNEY, Secretary

For ten months Eugene N. Foss has been Governor of Massachusetts. He has made a splendid record for the betterment of the state and its institutions--financial and industrial.

For the welfare of its citizens in general and its wage-earners in particular.

At his hands Lowell has received marked recognition in appointments of Adj. - Gen. Pearson and Judge Nathan D. Pratt.

He deserves well of this city. Show the maligners of the Governor you know who is your true friend.

Vote for Foss and the entire ticket.

HUMPHREY O'SULLIVAN, 105 Butterfield St., Lowell.

men it will be your own fault. Give us real democracy instead of sham and bumbling. The short ballot, recall, referendum and initiative, are enough to recommend the new charter to me. Give it your honest consideration and there will be no doubt as to results. The concluding speaker was William N. Osgood. "You have already heard a general survey of the charter," he said, "and now we will consider some objections advanced against it. The new charter will give the people more control. Under the present system there is lack of efficiency and it is impossible to fix responsibility. It is beyond the control of the people. Your present charter has none of the features of the old town meeting. When the city took its present charter it surrendered up its veto power. Under the charter a pile of money was sunk in a sewer in Belvidere. The people had no right to come in, under referendum, to prevent it. The people of Lowell were up in arms against the erection of a slaughter house but the board of aldermen voted their approval of it.

"It has been proposed that the new charter would mean government by the few. That out of the five members there would spring a combination of three. This is but one of the many extravagant statements that are being made against the proposed charter. "Instead of a government by the few it would mean a government by the many. Under the new charter it would not be necessary to take a city official before the grand jury and all the objections brought against the new charter can be argued with 10,000 times the emphasis against the old charter. Who controls the government today—the many or the few? I say that the men who grant valuable franchises are controlled by the few on the outside.

The mayor says that the new charter would mean a government by the few and he carefully avoids any mention of the recall or referendum. He says that all work will be let out by contract for labor. The municipal council can never let out a contract for labor to come from elsewhere because the recall will stop them. How long would the business men of Lowell and organized labor stand for the importing of foreign labor to this city to take the place of the men who supply the money to run the corporations. The municipal corporation is a public business corporation. The moment that the purposes and objects of the public corporation become different from those of the private corporation it must adopt different methods. The private corporations return the money to their stockholders. In the case of the city the dividends paid to the taxpayer, who is the stockholder, is in parks, streets, sewers, lights and schools, and other public utilities. Scientific management is not intended for any public corporation. It cannot be applied to a city,

Don't let Lowell be the last to get into line for better government. We should have been among the first. We were the first in railroads and telephones. Let us settle this question so that we may assist Lowell in booming herself. Let us help to increase the credit of the city and encourage new industries, for Lowell is destined to be more important than at the present time."

BIG BATTLESHIPS

Passed in Review Before President
William H. Taft Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—President Taft today had his first real view of the American navy. It so happened that since he entered the White House the fleet which had been so greatly admired by President Roosevelt had been on which scattered duty for the greater part of the time. And while the president had reviewed two divisions of the Atlantic fleet in Provincetown harbor in the summer of 1910 and a little more than two weeks ago in San Francisco had stood upon the quarterdeck of the California of the Pacific fleet, he had never until today come into his own as commander-in-chief of the fighting forces of the country. From the bridge of the presidential yacht Mayflower Mr. Taft reviewed the gray armada that for nearly a week had swung at anchor in the Hudson river awaiting his inspection. As the little Mayflower picked her way in and out among the giant craft of the battleship line the guns of the fleet roared in a reverberating chorus of salutes. Accepting these tributes as a matter of course and declining to reply to any of them, the yacht with the president's blue-crested flag at the main truck, sailed gracefully along the seven-mile column of fighting ships, turned at the end and headed up the river. Late this afternoon the entire fleet, 99 vessels in all, will get under way and pass in review of the president while the Mayflower

CHINESE REBELS

Urged by National Assembly to Suspend Hostilities

PEKING, Nov. 2.—The government's plans for bringing about peace moved forward rapidly today with the throne and the national assembly working together. The throne ordered Yuan Shi Kai, the new premier, to return immediately to Peking and simultaneously the national assembly, by its official capacity, telegraphed General Li Yuan Hong, leader of the revolutionists, requesting him to suspend hostilities pending the result of the endeavor to settle the differences of all parties.

From a semi-official source it was learned that a subordinate of Yuan Shi Kai has already conferred with Gen. Li Yuan Hong. The latter expressed pleasure at the recent developments in Peking, and agreed to meet Yuan Shi Kai for a discussion of the situation.

Prinze Ching, the old premier, who is the only high Manchurian official left in the capital, had agreed to memorialize the throne with the following suggestions:

First, that all laws opposed to constitutional methods be annulled immediately; second, that the election of members of parliament be undertaken without delay; third, that the provincial assemblies throughout the empire be granted coordinate authority with the provincial administrative officials; fourth, that in order to avoid an open rupture with the Manchurian royal plan be drawn up to provide for the support of the Manchurian bannermen and pensioners and that the "banners," the eight divisions of the Imperial Manchurian military be disbanded; fifth, that the Manchurian bannermen adopt Chinese names, and, sixth, that a formal proclamation be issued announcing that military force will not be used against the revolutionaries.

The drafting of a constitution is likely to be difficult because of the difference of opinion regarding the type of government to be adopted. The national assembly is practically agreed upon a constitution based on that of Great Britain, but the southern provinces which must be conciliated are still firm in their desire for a more republican form of union. This controversy is the main difficulty which Premier Yuan Shi Kai is expected to overcome. Yuan Shi Kai arrived yesterday at Nienko, a town only a few miles from Hankow.

REVOLUTIONISTS

HAVE DYNAMITED THE ARSENAL AT HAN YANG.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 2.—A wireless message from Hankow today says that the revolutionists dynamited the arsenal at Han Yang to prevent its seizure by the imperialists.

There is some evidence of renewed activity on the part of the insurgents on the lower Yang Tze River. Persons well informed assert that the imperial edicts granting a constitutional government and other concessions have not reached the mass of rebels, being purposely withheld until their leaders are absolutely assured of the sincerity of the Manchurian promises.

The victory of Kiang Su at Nanking shows determination to support the government. The new troops have been disbanded and stationed outside the walls, where their encampment is covered with the guns of the old Manchurian troops.

Five hundred old troops have been sent to reinforce the soldiers occupying the forts at Ching Kiang. The officials at Wu and Anking have also asked that reinforcements of soldiers be sent to those cities.

The cotton yarn guild adopted a resolution today authorizing the repudiation of forward contracts on the ground that the trade has been disordered by the revolution.

BOSTON MERCHANT

Charged With Using the Mails to Defraud

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—As a result of the investigation by postoffice authorities into a number of complaints made by farmers from all sections of New England, George Cole, a commission merchant doing business at 141 Atlantic avenue, this city, was arrested today and after pleading not guilty before United States Commissioner Haynes was held in $500 bonds for a continued hearing on Nov. 9 on a charge of using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud. It is alleged by the postal inspectors that Cole has been investigated by the postal authorities on two previous occasions when prosecution was averted, they say, by Cole's settlement with his creditors. The complainants are Miss G. P. Kent, Warren, N. H.; Howard Frazer, Littleton, Mass.; H. F. Merrill, Parkman, Me.; and Mrs. Albion Cooper, Falls, Me. All are small farmers, who claim to have sold Cole apples, eggs and poultry. It is alleged that Cole quoted high prices for his produce but would remit only about one-third of the market price to the producers.

LULA A SUICIDE

Shot Himself After Wounding Wife's Father and Mother

Crazed with jealousy Stephan Lada, a young Polish operative, broke into the home of his wife's parents at 55 Front street about midnight last night in quest of his wife and failing to find her there shot and seriously wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Kozlot, shot her husband, Joseph Kozlot, through the arm, and then turned the revolver on himself and sent a bullet through his head.

The three were hurried to St. John's hospital immediately after the shooting where everything possible was done to save their lives. Lula failed to recover consciousness and passed away at 4.24 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Kozlot, who was shot through the breast, is in a critical condition, though the doctors entertain hope for her recovery. Joseph Kozlot received a bullet in the right arm above the elbow and his injury is more painful than serious.

Mrs. Anna Lula, for whom Lula was looking with the intention of killing her, heard her husband's voice and knowing him to be a dangerous person, left her bed and hid herself in a closet in the room. The infuriated man looked in the room where the woman was hiding but failing to find her in bed went into the kitchen and shot the mother-in-law and then meeting the father-in-law in the hallway fired a shot at him, and then returned to the kitchen and shot himself. RICHESON RESIGNED

Gives Up Position as Pastor of Cambridge Church

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Rev. Clarence Richeson, who was indicted by the grand jury on Tuesday on the charge of murdering Miss Avis Linnell, has resigned as pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church of Cambridge. His resignation today reached the home of Charles Cummings, clerk of the church. The letter bore a post office stamp showing that it had been mailed in Black Day yesterday. The resignation was signed in the handwriting of Rev. Mr. Richeson and bore the date of November 1.

Although the text of the letter of resignation is not yet obtainable it is understood to be in such form that his acceptance will not embarrass even his personal supporters in the church, who still maintain that they believe the minister did not murder his former sweetheart. Final action on the part of the church is unlikely to be taken on Rev. Mr. Richeson's resignation for nearly two weeks to come. "I can promise that the people of New England will be surprised when the facts come out," said John L. Lee, the Virginia attorney who is working for the defense, in commenting on the case today.

"Clarence Richeson will be freed," continued Mr. Lee. "I have seen and talked with him in his cell and I have gone over the evidence in the case. I am confident of his innocence." This statement was made following a conference of attorneys engaged in the defense of Rev. Mr. Richeson held this forenoon in the office of ex-Judge Dunbar. Those present were Mr. Lee, Congressman Robert O. Harris, former Judge Dunbar and Phillip Dunbar. Mr. Lee did not care to state the nature of the evidence which he claims will surprise the public. "It would not be proper to reveal it now," he said.

AIKEN ST. WIDENING

ANDREW G. SWAPP, Opposed to City Taking Land Belonging to Corporation.

ALDERMAN BARRETT,
Chairman Street Committee.

to present were Aldermen Barrett and Connors, Councilmen Elliott, Bowers, Davis and General. City Engineer Kearney and Supt. Putnam were in attendance.

The first hearing was on the reopening of Marshall road on the petition of Connors Brothers.

Lawyer A. S. Howard appeared for the petitioners and asked that the road be reopened as it was before the railroad built its bridge there.

Two gentlemen named Hartford, owning property on the road, stated that the road was originally a public way but the road got so bad after the bridge was built up there that one of the horses on the "hurry-up" wagon met with fatal injuries there. Since that time a "private way" sign was put up.

Curtis McKee said that the road could be reopened at a very small cost. Albert E. Greene, a property owner on the road, Mrs. Wesson of Fruit street, and several other property owners explained the dangerous and inconvenient condition of the road as it is at present. There were no remonstrances.

Aiken Street Widening

The next petition was that for the widening of Aiken street. Councilman Henry Aikin was the first speaker and he said that the matter has been agitated for some years. It is one of the most dangerous spots in the city. The section is so thickly populated that the children play in the streets and the street as it now is a menace to these children. He stated further that some few years ago it was contemplated taking a portion of the land owned by the Lawrence Mfg. company but he understood that the Lawrence company had plans in mind for a new mill on this land and hence it was decided to take a slice off the Harris property and he thought the city could get the property at a reasonable price. Alderman Connors asked if the Lawrence company could not change its plan so as to allow the city to take a piece of the land.

Councilman Aikin referred him to Mr. A. G. Swapp of the Lawrence Mfg. Co. who was present. Mr. Swapp stated that plans were made for new mill buildings on that lot while the plans included the installation of machinery. Taking a slice of land from the lot meant more than the mere seizing of a few feet of land. It affected the entire lot, the shape of the building and the amount and run of the machinery.

Alderman Connors asked when the company intended to build and Mr. Swapp replied that that would depend on the condition of business.

"Will you build within 20 years?" asked Mr. Connors.

"I should hope so."

Alderman Connors spoke of seizing the land and Mr. Swapp stated that the seizing of a piece of a tenement building was not to be compared with the stopping of the building of a five story mill. For the time being he said the scope of cutting off the tenement building might be more, but in the matter of taxes, and the employment of labor it was not to be compared with the seizing of the mill property.

In conclusion Mr. Swapp said that he was heartily in favor of the petition.

Robert S. Marden of the board of trade committee on highways appeared in favor of the petition and stated that he did not care to do anything to injure a corporation such as the Lawrence already established and with a large pay roll. He believed, however, that to take a piece of the Lawrence property would be the easier way and it would give travelers an opportunity to see around the corner.

Alderman Connors asked when the Lawrence company would remove a part of the wall and Mr. Swapp replied that it would do no good to remove the wall if a building was going up.

Alderman Connors asked if the Lawrence company would remove a part of the wall until it was ready to build. Mr. Swapp called his attention to the fact that there is still a storehouse there.

George E. Mongeau who favored the petition, stated that some one of the corners should be taken off although he wouldn't care to see anything done to prevent the addition to any of our corporations.

Chief Mosmer of the fire department stated that the street was the worst spot in the city for the fire teams and something in his opinion should be done to remedy the conditions there.

"Chief Mosmer we'd like your opinion as to just what should be done there," said Alderman Barrett.

"In my opinion," replied Chief Mosmer, "the best thing to do would be to take a little slice off each corner."

There were no remonstrances and the hearing was declared closed.

James P. Riley appeared in behalf of a petition for the manufacturing of Manchester street. After describing the street conditions in Ayer city as being "rotten," Mr. Riley suddenly said: "My dream, Mr. Chairman, has always been to annex Chelmsford and Billerica to Lowell."

"If there are no other speakers on the petition I'll declare the matter closed," chimed in Chairman Barrett and the annexation project was nipped in the bud.

The neighborhood was well represented at the hearing on the petition to extend Dingwell street from Tremont to Middlesex. Six taxpayers appeared in favor and as many against. It seems that there are several streets in the locality, one of which at least should be opened to Middlesex street, and opinions differed as to which one, the opponents of the petition claiming that the opening of Cashin street would accommodate more families than would Dingwell street. One speaker said that six families would be benefited by Dingwell street and 16 by Cashin street.

Several other petitions were heard after which the committee met and took action on them.

It was voted to have the city engineer and a sub-committee of two confer with the officials of the Lawrence Co. and the Harris heirs relative to the widening of Aiken street and it was voted to take an other view of the Marshall road.

The petition of Jacques Chasse at the petition of acceptance of a part of Farmland road was referred to the city engineer for a profile.

The Manchester street proposition was laid on the table.

It was voted to grant the petition of John C. Kallisher and others that Chase avenue be laid out and accepted.

It was voted to take a view of Dingwell and neighboring streets and secure estimates of the cost of extending the streets in that locality.

It was voted to accept Fairfax street as petitioned for by Eugene G. Russell.

Favorable action was taken on the petition of E. J. Dill that a portion of Wood street be laid out and accepted and cinder sidewalks laid.

Petitions previously heard were taken-up. Alfred Desjardins petitioned for a sidewalk in front of 124 Billings street, and it was recommended.

John G. Tucker petitioned that Orleans street be laid out and accepted from Aldereth street to Lakeview avenue. It was voted to favor the petition and to pay the assessed valuation of four cents a foot for $600 square feet.

Robert G. Catherwood asked that Stratham street be accepted and extended to Lawrence street. The engineer was asked to get estimates.

The petition of Robert H. Muldoon that Lawrence street be block paved from the railroad bridge in Lawrence street to Wolcott street, was referred to the government of 1912.

It was voted to take views of Marshall road and Dingwell street this afternoon.

It was voted to refer the petition for the repair of Howard street from Middlesex street to Westford, and that Howard street from Hale street to the schoolhouse be referred to the superintendent.

Mr. Dill asked relative to the repair of Plain street, and following discussion, action was deferred.

A BITTER STRUGGLE

Foss and Council Engage in a Wordy War

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Governor Foss and the executive council engaged in a bitter struggle all day yesterday at the hearings over the governor's appointments.

Governor Foss was denounced by his face by one of the witnesses, who objected to the conduct of the hearing. Councilor Glidden attempted to arrest a vote against allowing Daniel J. Kiley to speak, and the governor refused to put the motion.

Kiley spoke in spite of the demand of the council to have a vote taken. Kiley denounced the council for having refused to confirm the governor's appointments.

The council again rejected the appointment of William L. Read, the appointed messenger of the council, who had been appointed clerk of the juvenile court, and refused to hear any testimony regarding him.

Appointments Doomed

No action was taken in the matter of confirming the appointments, but it is stated that on Wednesday next at least two of them are to be rejected, and possibly the entire list may be rejected. Next Wednesday is the day after election.

One of the sensational features of the day was the story of Charles G. Wood, the proprietor of the New Bedford Times, who told of various scrapes he had been in while in quest of news. The incidents in question had been used against the confirmation of Wood.

Charles Francis Adams, 2d, had sent to the council a lengthy letter against the confirmation of Professor Garrett Drovers of Williams as member of the railroad commission on commerce and labor, of which commission Mr. Adams was a member.

Kiley Row

The first touch of real excitement in the day came during the afternoon hearing when Daniel J. Kiley broke in upon the hearing upon the appointment of Warren P. Spalding to the prison commission and asked to be heard in the case of Professor Drovers.

He said that he had been unable to be present when the Drovers appointment was being heard.

"Go ahead, Mr. Kiley," said Governor Foss.

"I object to that," interposed Councilor Glidden. "There are several people here who have been here all day and who ought to be kept waiting no longer. Mr. Kiley should have been here when the Drovers matters was being heard."

"Go right ahead, Mr. Kiley," said Governor Foss.

"I will take a vote of the council on that," exclaimed Councilor Glidden. "I move that Mr. Kiley be not heard now and that we continue the name of Mr. Spalding."

"Go right on, Mr. Kiley," urged Governor Foss.

"Your excellency, I am surprised," began Mr. Kiley.

"Oh, I am not surprised at all," interrupted Governor Foss. "Go on, Mr. Kiley."

Governor Foss then refused to put the motion of Councilor Glidden and Mr. Kiley secured the floor. He scored the council for its failure to confirm the governor's appointments. He attacked the railroad commission as being in the control of the traction corporations. He said that if the commission had not been in the control of the elevated would have been stopped long ago.

When Mr. Kiley had finished speaking the Spalding matter was continued by Mr. Kiley.

Elizabeth Putnam and Richard J. Dana were heard in favor of the Spalding appointment. Mr. Dana attacked Mr. Pettigrove, who, he said, was a politician.

Secretary Hamlin read a number of letters supporting Mr. Spalding.

Just as the council was going to take up the case of Charles G. Wood of New Bedford, who had been named on the board of conciliation and arbitration, Solomon Lowenberg secured the floor and made a sensational attack upon Governor Foss.

Attacks Foss

"This is one of the worst conducted hearings I ever saw," said Lowenberg. "I wish to enter my protest against the recent action of the chief executive. He has come in here and prevented the council from conducting its own hearing."

"I had the privilege of appearing before this council a few weeks ago in opposition to the appointment of David Stoneman of Boston to be a justice of the Dorchester court, an appointment which I may add was the most atrocious any governor of this commonwealth ever made."

"Made it a Farce"

"I want to say now that I never appeared before a more fair body of men than conducted the hearing in the Stoneman case. The conducted it fairly and properly and I am certain that they would have conducted this

Frank S. Farnham of Brockton, with Myron L. Keith and T. J. Evans of that city, opposed the appointment of Charles G. Wood of New Bedford to be a member of the board of conciliation and arbitration to succeed Harry Morse of Haverhill.

They said that Mr. Wood was temporarily unit for the position and that he does not properly represent the manufacturers as the law says he must do.

Wood's Defence

N. H. Selden of Haverhill declared that the manufacturers of northeastern Massachusetts are a unit in desiring that their present representative on the board be retained.

Mr. Wood was then heard in his own defence.

"I was in New Bedford 10 years ago and started a newspaper with a capital of $1200. Today I own the Times building. It is valued at $100,000. I have done this with my typewriter and my nerve."

Secretary Hamlin then read an attested copy of a record of the superior court for Bristol county showing that Wood had paid a fine of $100 last year for criminal libel. Mr. Wood was asked to explain it.

To Protect "the Boys"

The libellous article was written without my knowledge," he said. "I had to protect the boys in my office I assumed the responsibility for it. When the matter came to trial I was ill in a sanatorium. My attorney paid the fine because the district attorney refused to permit the matter to be continued."

Councilor Fletcher then inquired about an incident in the city of Lawrence where Wood had gone to jail.

Wood laughed.

Feigned Drunkenness

"The city editor of my paper assigned me to get a story of the real conditions inside the jail," he said. "I had to get in somehow, so I feigned drunkenness. I was taken in by the police. I played the part so well that even the judge was deceived and he declared the next morning that I was still drunk. I was fined $10."

Councilor Fletcher inquired if Wood was found guilty of carrying weapons.

Wood said that he had pleaded "not guilty," but the record was changed and made to appear that he had pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to serve 30 days in the house of correction, of which he had served 17, when he was liberated by the county commissioners.

Wood also told of getting into the almshouse at Tewksbury to investigate charges made against it.

Colored Men Protest

Before the council adjourned William Trotter and the Rev. Mr. Johnson, both well known colored men, tried to speak in the matter of the appointment of William L. Read to be clerk of the juvenile court to succeed Charles W. M. N. Williams.

They were not permitted to do so, however, on the ground that the council had again rejected the appointment of Mr. Read at the morning session.

The council continued the hearing upon the appointment of L. Warren Briggs to be a member of the board of insanity. It was stated that the council will not act on the matter of confirmation until next Wednesday, the day after election.

When the blood is poor and thin, and the stomach in consequence is imperfectly supplied with oxidized blood and nerve force, the digestive process becomes slow and fermentation of the food goes on, with formation of gas and certain acids.

The pressure of the gas causes pain in the stomach; sometimes it affects the heart. When the gas is belched out through the mouth the patient is temporarily relieved. The sour risings in the throat and burning sensations in the throat and stomach are caused by the acids of fermentation.

There are plenty of things to neutralize these acids, or "sweeten the stomach" as it is called, but they do not cure the trouble. Pure, rich blood which will tone up the stomach is required as the following cases show. A careful reading of these honest statements is well worth while.

GAS ON THE STOMACH

The cure of Mr. G. W. Seaborn, proprietor of the Seaborn Sign company, of No. 2 Brookline street, Cambridge, Mass., is a strong recommendation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for use in stomach trouble. He says:

"About four years ago I was troubled with a very bad stomach. I was short of breath, gas formed on my stomach, my legs felt as though they would give away from under me and I had dizzy, fainting spells which came on me suddenly. My work at that time was on high scaffolding and, as I nearly fell off once, I had to give it up. My mouth was dry and parched and had a bad taste in the morning.

"My doctor treated me for acute indigestion caused by a bad condition of the blood but gave me no relief that I could see. Then I tried many medicines but they did me no good and I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In a few weeks I was completely cured."

THIN BLOOD THE CAUSE

"I was so low with stomach trouble that the doctors said I could not live three months, but now I am well and it is all due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," says Miss Rosella Ostigny, of No. 114 Sylvian street, Central Falls, R. I. "The physician said my trouble came from poor, thin blood and bad circulation. It made me weak and thin. I had no energy or ambition, my food did not digest, gas formed and I was generally miserable until, by my sister's advice I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They helped me in a short time and I continued using them until entirely cured."

HEADACHES AND DIZZY SPELLS

Mrs. Clara A. Graham, of No. 137 O street, South Boston, Mass., says:

"I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are one of the very best remedies for sick headaches and indigestion. I tried different kinds of medicine and was treated by doctors but received no relief until I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began to have stomach trouble as a result of overwork. I had gas on the stomach which would bloat and cause me intense pain. There was a feeling as though something heavy was pressing on my stomach. I suffered dreadfully from headaches and dizzy spells and would have had flashes across my eyes. It seemed as though I could not stand the pain.

"A friend told me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and they helped me from the start. I soon could eat and sleep better, the pains in my stomach left me and I rapidly grew well."

FOOD CAUSED DISTRESS

Mrs. Fred J. Smith of No. 23 Fraser street, New London, Conn., says:

"I suffered terribly with my stomach for a year and a half and could hardly eat anything. I had no desire for food and was distressed by digestive ills. Food would be partly digested and ferment on my stomach, causing gas to form. Once in a while I had to vomit but usually I was unable to, although I felt nauseated most of the time. I was troubled with constipation. My heart would palpitate whenever I exerted myself like going up stairs and I often had dizzy spells with black spots before my eyes. I was restless and sleepless, nervous and easily excited. Occasionally I had violent headaches over and back of the eyes. My blood was thin and impure. I was colorless and had no strength or ambition.

"I tried different medicines and was treated by three doctors but received little or no help. I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking a few boxes I was greatly relieved. I continued with the pills and was cured. I have had to return to my trouble and give the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

SICK HEADACHES

Mrs. Laura E. Strout, whose address is R. F. D. No. 6, South Portland, Me., found quick relief. She says:

"After suffering with stomach trouble for eleven years I found permanent relief through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. My stomach trouble began after a long illness. I had to eat only for strength and ate quite a large quantity of starch each day. I had sick headaches and my nerves were in a terrible condition. I was so nervous that I couldn't sleep nights and I would often get up and dress. It was impossible for me to sit still for five minutes. I thought there was no help for me and that I would die.

"I tried several doctors but they did not help me. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Soon I could see they were benefiting me and after I had given them a thorough trial I was cured. I have been well and have had no occasion to take medicine since."

SEND FOR A DIET BOOK

The experience of sufferers from stomach trouble, who have tried the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, has been that their trouble has disappeared as soon as the blood was made pure. The numerous disorders of the stomach, as catarrh of the stomach, acid stomach, nervous, dyspepsia, neuritis of the stomach, gastritis, and lack of tone, have the same underlying causes. In each case the stomach is weak. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People supply the stomach with the strength it needs by enriching and purifying the blood. Pure blood gives tone to the nerves, muscles and glands of the stomach and makes it capable of properly performing the work of digestion.

Sufferers from stomach trouble in any form, who have found their condition unimproved or actually growing worse while using ordinary remedies, would do well to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A copy of our diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free on request to any interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine company, Schenectady, N. Y.

S. J. MORGAN POINTING TO FRED O'DONOVAN AND EILEEN O'DOHERTY IN A DRAMA BY THE IRISH PLAYERS FROM DUBLIN AT THE OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Lady Gregory, the distinguished Irish dramatist who is coming to the Opera House tonight with the talent of hand of Irish players from the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, is a director of the Irish National Theatre Society, of Dublin, to whose devoted work is due the establishment and successful maintenance of the new non-commercial school of drama in Ireland. Lady Gregory is one of the most celebrated Irish writers as well as an expert in stagecraft. She has written several delightful books for children in addition to the many successful comedies she has done for the Irish theatre. She is as vigorous physically and mentally as a woman half her age. She seems to find no difficulty in managing the affairs of the Dublin theatre in addition to administering her large estate in County Galway. She has never been in America before and since her arrival in Boston a month ago she has been socially lionized and has been the recipient of much attention from the literary set of Harvard University. Her ladyship has a keen sense of humor, as might be expected from one who has written so many delightfully witty comedies. Until she came to America she had never had the experience of being interviewed by newspaper reporters. "I don't find the experience a dreadful one," she said smilingly the other day. "Indeed the young men and women from the newspapers man, cast such a sincere and solicitous interest in one that it is quite flattering to one's vanity." Lady Gregory had her first experience as a public speaker in Boston, for she never before had made an address in public. Likewise she there first had an experience in the gentle art of handshaking, for at a reception she shook hands with some 500 Bostonians, men and women. She found it fatiguing but otherwise interesting. Lady Gregory is Irish to her fingertips. She was born and grew up in Galway and has never lived away from there. She knows the Irish peasant mind thoroughly for she has had opportunity to study its many splendid phases all her life. Lady Gregory is unforgotten by her.

lighted with the wonderful artistic success of the Irish players in America. The players have been warmly praised by the foremost critics of Boston. Indeed, during the month's engagement of the Irish players in Boston the Boston newspapers devoted more than 150 columns to the plays, players and their art—an unrivalled record in publicity.

PLAYS GENUINELY IRISH

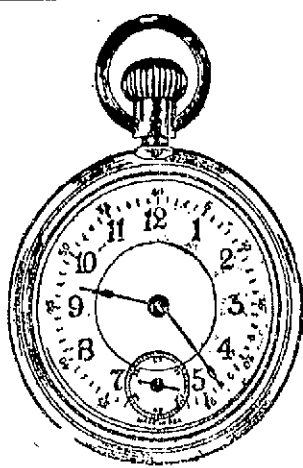

The plays to be presented tonight are thoroughly Irish. In the first, "Kathleen M. Houlihan," Ireland is represented by an old woman lamenting the loss of her sons; "The Building Fund," by William Boyle, is good as are all his plays, and "The Work House Ward," by Lady Gregory, is a delightfully humorous farce. All three plays have been highly enjoyed and appreciated wherever given.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"

The coming of "The Chocolate Soldier" to this city is set for Thursday, Nov. 16. Mr. Whitney has given a new grace and elegance to the production this season by the construction of new scenery, and by duplicating the costumes throughout, in order to maintain the high standard of excellence which has for years been associated with a Whitney production. In the Whitney Opera company the star system is unknown, and this eliminates all weakness in the minor roles which is the shortcoming of most light opera companies. The high degree of talent which Mr. Whitney insists upon in his companies is increased by the fact that every member of the company presenting "The Chocolate Soldier" can boast of a grand opera training.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

As there is nothing more beautiful than the clear song of the bird there can be nothing more interesting and beautiful than the exact reproduction of the song of the bird from the human throat, though Charles Kellogg, who is delighting large audiences at Keith's this week, came before the public with his unique demonstration none ever dreamed that human voice could reproduce the harmony of the feathered songsters. There have been bird imitators galore before the public but there is but one Kellogg; only one man possessed of the power to reproduce bird sounds so perfectly as to attract the birds themselves to him. Mr. Kellogg's power is not produced through any artificial agency. He has a peculiarly formed throat that enables him to sing as the birds sing. Scientists have made a study of his gift but cannot explain it other than he has been abundantly gifted by the Almighty. Nature. Appreciating his wonderful gift, Mr. Kellogg has made a deep and intelligent study of bird life and the results of his study he tells to his audiences, illustrating his remarks by his bird songs, in one of the sweetest and most intensely interesting discourses ever given on any stage. It courses over the mind, charming to the ear and one feels better for having seen and heard him. But speaking of birds, no bird ever flew around a stage with any more rapidity than do the De Vora trio in their dancing act including the diminutive and dark member of the combination who apparently is gifted with a boneless and rubber anatomy that defies all attempts to disjoin him. Then there are Leonard and Whitney in "Duffy's Rise," depicting the Irishman's experiences of a jolly little Irishman with a high spirit who is trying to but into society on the sudden acquisition of considerable wealth. Mr. Leonard is a most worthy successor of the late Billy Barry. Mints and Palmer mimic music and repartee to a most palatable pie, as it were, and the audience eating it up with great relish at each performance. The Savari trio and their five educated bull pups have an act which is declared to be dog-gone good. Kimberly and Hodgkins have a novel piano and singing act that is as entertaining as it is novel. The Great Richards exemplifies the more wonderful possibilities of the dance and the bill in its entirety is one of the best yet offered. Seats for the concluding performances may be ordered in advance by telephone 38.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today the Theatre Voyons will show a biograph, "Love in the Hills," strong in plot and finely acted, that will be sure to please all who see it. "An Island Comedy" is one of the funniest and daintiest Edison comedies of the year and the Pathe Weekly will be sure to win approval. Some of the features of the Weekly are the "French Battleship Liberty," taken a few hours after the terrible explosion that wrecked her and clearly showing the destruction wrought by it. Another feature will be a monster blast at Allentown, Pa. in which over 10,000 pounds of powder was used. The musical program is novel and of the best kind.

night, but were awakened about midnight by some person pounding on the door. The occupants of the house were badly frightened and hesitated about opening the door. The person knocking was Lula, and when he received no response he burst in the door and rushed into the kitchen.

Mrs. Kozlot got out of bed and was entering the kitchen when Lula entered the room. He shouted "Where's Anne?" "I want to see her," and "I'm going to kill her."

The girl wife hearing her husband's voice and remembering that she had left her husband the day before because they had quarreled and he had threatened to kill her, left her bed and hid herself in a closet.

Lula entered her room about the time she was closing the door on her self. He lighted a match and looked about the room but in his excitement failed to look in the closet. Not finding her he rushed into the kitchen where Mrs. Kozlot was, and raising his revolver, fired at her point blank. The bullet entering the woman's breast, Mr. Kozlot hearing the discharge of the revolver came through the hallway but before entering the kitchen Lula rushed at him and fired a shot, the bullet imbedding itself in Kozlot's right arm.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHAN LULA

Lula then returned to the kitchen and placing the revolver to his head, in front of the right ear, pulled the trigger and the bullet went out through the top of his head and imbedded itself over the door in the kitchen.

Remained a Slaughter House

Mrs. Lula hurried from the house and called for the Chillum, who resides in Bridge street. The doctor was soon on the scene and did everything possible to alleviate the sufferings of the parties, as well as to stop the flow of blood in the different wounds.

Patrolman Joseph Clarke was passing through Lakewood avenue and hearing the report of the revolver hurried to front street and upon entering the house found Lula and Mrs. Kozlot in an unconscious condition lying on the kitchen floor in large pools of blood, while there was another pool of blood in the hallway which came from the wound in Kozlot's arm.

Patrolman John J. Sullivan and Conlon were soon on the scene and in a few minutes the police patrol and an ambulance arrived.

Hurried to Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Kozlot were placed in the ambulance and taken to St. John's hospital and Lula was placed on a stretcher in the automobile patrol and accompanied by Lieut. John B. Crowley was taken to the hospital.

The doctors after making a hasty examination of Lula knew that he was going to die, although they did everything in their power to prolong his life, hoping that there might be a slight possibility of saving his life.

The bullets fired at Mrs. Kozlot entered at the top of the breast bone and was found in her back. The chances are that the bullet penetrated the lungs. Her condition is very serious.

Kozlot's injuries are not serious.

Climax of Quarrel

The shooting came as a climax to a quarrel which Lula had with his wife Tuesday night at the house where they boarded in Tataville, Conn., where both were employed as operatives in a mill. During the argument held on Tuesday night Lula drew a razor and threatened to cut his wife's throat.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Lula arose at the usual hour and started for work, but instead of going to the building where she was employed she went to the office and asked for her pay. After receiving her pay envelope she boarded a train for Lowell.

Upon arriving in this city she went to the home of her parents in Front street and told them how she had been treated by her husband, saying that she was afraid of him and could not live with him any longer. Mr. and Mrs. Kozlot told the daughter she could live with them and secure work in one of the local mills.

Lula heard of his wife giving up her position in the mill and evidently his first thought was that she came to her parents in this city. He boarded a train late in the afternoon and arrived here last night. Where he was from the time the train arrived until he reached the Kozlot house, about midnight, is not known.

Mrs. Lula's Story.

Mrs. Lula, who was formerly Anna Kozlot, is well known by people who had occasion to attend the daily sessions of police court two or three years ago. At that time she was a very bright and pretty little girl of 16 years, who at times acted as an interpreter in cases where Polish people were concerned. Her attractive manner, neat appearance and her knowledge of the English and Polish languages, were often remarked.

One day, however, when the police wanted Anna to interpret in a case they learned that she had left the city and no one knew her whereabouts. Later it was learned that she had been married.

In conversation with a reporter this morning Mrs. Lula had the following to say relative to her marital troubles and the shooting last night. "My husband threatened me on numerous occasions and I came to Lowell yesterday because I was afraid he would do no harm. I was married to Lula about three years ago in this city and lived with him up to about a year ago, when he left me and I had support myself. For seven months I worked in the mills in this city, at the end of which time my husband reappeared. He said he was sorry for leaving me and we made up and went to Tataville, Conn., where he was employed. I also received employment there and we lived there together until yesterday.

"Early Tuesday night my husband in a fit of jealousy beat me and still left threatened to take my life if I left him. I laid awake all night and after my husband had left in the morning I went to the mill where I had been employed and drew my pay and took the first train for Lowell, arriving here shortly after seven o'clock last night."

Lula was 24 years of age and his wife is 20, she having been married when she was 16 years of age.

The revolver which Lula used was a Colt's 38 calibre six shooter. Patrolman Clark found the revolver on the floor beside Lula. There were three cartridges which had not been fired and three empty shells. The bullet which went through Lula's head was found imbedded in the wall over the kitchen door this morning by Patrolman John C. Bennett.

When Capt. Atkinson was apprised of the shooting he ordered the police patrol sent to the scene. Lula was taken in the patrol to the hospital and Lieut. Crowley was detailed to act as guard over Lula until he would be able to be removed to a place of confinement, but one of the doctors at the hospital informed the police that it would be unnecessary for the police to watch the man as there was no hope for his recovery.

The body of Lula was this morning removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker John A. Finnegan at 173 East Merrimack street. The deceased is survived by a wife and two sisters, all of this city.

Inquiry at the hospital at the time of going to press this afternoon brought forth the report that there was no change in the condition of Mrs. Kozlot.

BUGLAR CAUGHT

He Had a Bag Containing Silver

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Awakened by a noise in the apartments of Mrs. Flora Ladd on St. Botolph street, early today, two boarders decided that it was a cat playing with silverware and they went back to sleep. Shortly afterward Patrolman Fitzgerald observed a negro walking through Castle square carrying a heavy bag and he promptly held him on suspicion. The policeman found the bag contained 64 pieces of silver, including 24 teaspoons, 11 knives, 22 forks and six large spoons. The police immediately connected the colored man, who gave the name of Harry O'Neil, aged 28, with the theft at the Ladd home. Mrs. Ladd stated that Harry had formerly been employed as butler by her and to enter the house early today had forced a cellar window.

A HALLOWEEN PARTY

A very pretty Halloween party was given Tuesday evening in the bungalow, Pinehurst Park, by the "Rhodanines," consisting of popular young ladies of Lowell. The bungalow was decorated very prettily in Halloween colors and pumpkins. A bounteous supper was served, and games and dancing were enjoyed until a late hour, when special cars took the young people to their respective homes in Lowell and Woburn.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Trading was active in the early stock market today. Changes were small and irregular and the market exhibited less strength than yesterday. Canadian Pacific received a point, Amalgamated Copper 1/2 and American Car & Foundry 1/2. Some of the industrial stocks were strong. Railroad Steel Springs gained a point and General Electric 1/2.

Profit-taking sales invited by yesterday's advance depressed the market. After these realizing sales had been executed the market turned upward briskly. The bulk of the buying seemed to originate from the short interest, although the strength which the market showed in the face of the heavy realizing of yesterday encouraged activity in the long account. U. S. was the leader in the rise.

The opposing influences of profit-taking and of a resumption of buying for the long account created a confused market to waver for a time after the opening today but before trading had been long under way, the movement became definitely upward. The demand was steady and well diversified, although the buying was largely active as yesterday's closing. The fact that most pressing requirements and covering short contracts had been accomplished. Prices were raised steadily until U. S. had been marked up several points. Purchases for both accounts were active in all the specialties and there was an unquestioned air of confidence in the buying. On a fractional reaction shortly before noon the market became quiet.

American Smelting moved up in moderate fashion, touching 68, and immediately thereafter the stock market was driven by holders of a substantial short interest accounted for a boom in the stock. Other copper stocks were materially higher in sympathy.

Prices were not changed much in the mid-afternoon, although there were several fractional rallies and reactions. There did not appear to be any real progress in the advance, although the market was generally in a bullish mood. U. S. Steel, Amalgamated Copper, St. Paul, Reading and Canadian Pacific were among the important stocks which sold below yesterday's close. Professional operators took the view that the extended advance thus far this week justified a caution and they accordingly put out short lines at every opportunity.

TEXTILE TEAM WON DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Cushing Academy Eleven Defeated Closing Gun of Local Campaign on Monday Night by Score of 6 to 5

For the first time in all their years of athletic relationship, Textile defeated Cushing academy yesterday at Ashburnham, by the score of 6 to 5. The Cushing team, consisting of many past interscholastic stars, was no match for the snappy Lowell team and the close score does not represent the comparative abilities displayed yesterday by the two teams. The score would, no doubt, have been much greater had the field had been dry and in good playing condition, as time and time again, Textile would rush the ball to within striking distance of the opponents' goal line, only to lose it on a fumble, due to the slippery condition of the field.

The Textile team was forced to play without Al. Thompson, the lucky captain, in the line-up. Kelsey and Taft were two other regulars who were also kept out of the game on account of injuries but their positions were very creditably filled in yesterday's game by Shea and Pliminski.

During the first period Textile kept the home team continually on the defensive and a score was prevented by numerous fumbles.

In the second period the heavy Lowell backfield plowed through the line for gains of 10 and 20 yards, landing the ball at last on the three-yard line. Hamilton placed the ball behind the goal with a pretty end run. Percy Schiffler kicked the goal from a very difficult angle.

The third period came near being an unfortunate one for Textile, for after having rushed the ball to within 15 yards of their opponents' goal, a forward pass was attempted. The pass was intercepted by a Cushing player, who ran the length of the field for a touchdown. At the very outset of the play, the umpire's whistle was blown, as he saw a L. T. S. man offside and the Textile players, thinking that the whistle was blown when the ball was dead, allowed the opposing player to run the length of the field for a score. Cushing immediately refused to accept the penalty and the touchdown counted. Howard failed to kick the goal.

The Textile backfield showed up particularly well during the game, while the punting of Kelly for the academy team was a feature.

The score:

Textile.	Cushing.
Pinanski, ls	re, Smith
Crane, ls	re, Kelly
Shea, ls	re, Kelly
Dover, c	q, Morton
Hassett, rg	q, Howard
Washburn, rt	lc, Collins
Struass, re	lc, Collins
Tamilton, qb	qb, Hart
Frost, lb, r	rb, McCusker
Schiffel, lb, r	lb, Gallagher
Lamonte, rb	lb, Turabull

Score—Lowell Textile 6; Cushing Academy, 5. Touchdowns, Hamilton, Cushing. Goal from touchdown, Schiffler. Referee, Vose. Umpire, Murphy. Field judge, Thompson. Time, 22 and two 10-minute periods.

The closing gun of the state campaign will be fired by the democrats this city on next Monday evening, the eve of election when a big democratic rally will be held in Associate hall, where Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan who has led the work of the Pass campaign committee will preside and the speakers will be Thomas B. Riley, of Malden, who is always a welcome visitor to Lowell; ex-Mayor Chas. M. Burton, of Melrose, a forceful speaker; Dr. Coughlin of Fall River, member of the democratic national committee and ex-Ren. Jerry Watson of Boston, a militant democrat who needs no introduction. All the local candidates on the democratic ticket will be present and some of them will address the audience.

SPEEDY MARRIAGE

Were Friends Less Than 24 Hours

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—In the cards sent out by Mrs. Ethel Roman Rose of Narragansett Pier, announcing that her daughter Gladys and Ralph Fuller Nye were married at Jersey City on October 11, there is concealed a romance which, for speed and unusual features, wins this year's record.

The two married after an acquaintance of less than 24 hours, when Rose had come to New York to discuss her plans for a wedding with another man.

Miss Rose, who is 21, inherited a fortune from her father, James A. Rose, who was the owner of hotels in Daytona, Fla., and Narragansett Pier. Her mother is the largest property owner at the Pier, where the family has been prominent many years.

Miss Rose came to New York about Oct. 8 and lived at Breton Hall with her chaperon, Mrs. Jane Adams. She was tentatively engaged to a jeweler who has a large establishment on Broadway, and really came to the city to make the engagement final and begin plans for her trousseau. The rest of the story was told by Mrs. Adams yesterday to a reporter as follows:

"We were having dinner at the hotel Astor and Mr. Nye was dining with some friends who were acquainted with us. He was introduced to the party at 8 p. m. and we agreed to go to the theatre together."

"Mr. Nye came to New York a few days prior to see his parents, who live at Springfield, Mass., because he expected to go to Brazil with an engineering party."

After the theatre we went to Maxim's and then Gladys and I went home. At the hotel she told me she was going to be married to Mr. Nye next day.

"The next morning we stopped and bought the wedding ring, and they were married at the city hall in Jersey City at 2.30 p. m. Then they came back to New York and Mr. Nye went to the Long Acre hotel where he had been staying, and Gladys came back to Breton Hall."

"We had an engagement for dinner with the man to whom Gladys was engaged. At dinner he tried to talk matters over with her and she said, 'No, I can't marry you—I am engaged to someone else.' At the theatre when she took off her glove, he saw the wedding ring and he charged her with it, and she admitted that she had been married in the afternoon."

Mr. Nye is said to be a distant relative of "Bill" Nye, humorist.

SCORES KNOCKOUT

Andy Morris Put Away McDonald

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 2.—Andy Morris of Boston knocked out Mickey McDonald of Brooklyn in the sixth round of their bout before the New Bedford A. C. last night. John Wille of Chicago was scheduled as Morris' opponent, but was unable to go on, his manager stating that he was ill with tonsillitis.

McDonald entered the ring fat and was an easy mark for the Boston fighter, but his gameness in the face of heavy punishment won him applause.

In the fourth round Morris scored him twice with heavy rights to the jaw, but McDonald got to his feet immediately and was wobbling on the ropes when the bell rang.

In the fifth McDonald tried a little leading and once sent Morris staggering across the ring with a right to the head and in the next round he caught Morris with lefts several times while the latter was coming in.

Morris drove McDonald against the ropes and as the latter's body bounded back caught him with two fierce rights to the jaw that sent the Brooklynite down and eliminated him.

In the preliminaries Joe Vargas of Cambridge and Cricken Roskin of this city went six rounds to a draw, and Young Devin of this city bested Young Vernal.

DINGLE STOPS CONLEY

MARLBOROUGH, Nov. 2.—About 300 members of the Marlborough A. A. saw Billy Dingle of Lynn stop Eddie Conley of Everett in the first round of the semi-final bout in Hibernian hall last night, which was scheduled to go eight rounds. Billy Burke of Lynn was awarded the decision over Andy Green of Tennessee in the fifth round of the semi-final, which was billed for six rounds, and Spider Connor of Salem stopped Young Murray of Salem in the third round of the preliminary scheduled for four rounds.

Joe Nelson Challenges Winner

The sporting editor of The Sun is in receipt of a letter from the manager of Joe Nelson, the heavy-hitting welter weight of Lawrence, asking him to challenge the winner of the Wolcott. Sawyer bout at the Lowell Social and Athletic club tonight, on behalf of Nelson. The Wolcott-Sawyer bout promises to be one of the best witnessed in Lowell in many a day for Wolcott appears to have come back strong and only a few weeks ago knocked out Bob Lee, the colored boxer at Manchester. Wolcott has been training daily in Boston, confident that he can regain most of his lost prestige. He reports himself in fine shape. Sawyer has come along finely since he was last seen here and is confident of defeating the dusky ex-champion. The bouts will be held in the new and permanent quarters of the club at the corner of Market and Hanover streets. Bleachers have been installed so all seats are good ones. There will be two six round preliminaries and an eight round semi-final. The meeting will be for members only and members must present their membership cards before being admitted.

DISABLED STEERING GEAR

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Delayed nearly three days by disabled steering gear, the steamer Manitou from Antwerp reached here yesterday. The trouble occurred on Oct. 24 when the ship was in mid-ocean and caused some excitement among the hundred passengers, for a fierce gale was blowing and when the liner stopped she pitched and rolled violently. The Manitou lay helpless for 24 hours and part of that time she was broadside to the sea. During that time the passengers were not permitted on deck because of the danger of being washed overboard.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

POINTERS ON THE CHARTER

The Sun has received the most emphatic statements in favor of the commission form of government from so many cities that it would be impossible for us to publish more than one-third of the letters before the end of the campaign. In every letter received it is asserted that the new charter has brought about improved conditions, and that there is no reason whatever why the working classes should be opposed to this form of government. On the contrary most of the replies state that with party politics eliminated the laboring classes have better opportunities to get what they want in the line of public parks and public improvements of all kinds than they had under the dual system.

"The laboring men here are all in favor of the new charter and the people as a whole are well satisfied with it and would not change back to the old system. It is the initiative, referendum and recall that give the people absolute power. Our provisions in regard to public utilities and franchises help to control the so-called interests."

The fact does not seem to be appreciated by a certain class of voters in this city that although the municipal council will be confined to five members it will be under the absolute control of the people so that they can demand what they want in legislation and force its adoption. They can object to measures that the council may pass, and those measures must be held up until approved by the people. One-fifth of the voters can force an election for the recall of any member of the council. This gives the people absolute control over their government between the principal elections, something they never possessed before. Is that taking power away from the people?

But some will assert that this or that party, this or that organization, can put up a ticket that will sweep the field on election day. It must be understood that any citizen can get his name on the ballot at the primaries who can secure 25 signatures to his nomination paper. It is true that organizations may put candidates in the field, but they cannot compel the voters to elect them. The voters can do as they please on election day without dictation from anybody and it rests entirely with them who shall be elected to the municipal board.

It is noticeable that the opponents of the charter have practically no arguments against it. They simply deal in bogeys or pick flaws for the purpose of having something to say. They ask why is not the percentage for the recall lower, why must a candidate who wants to run in the recall election get ten per cent. of the vote in order to get his name on the ballot. These questions are unimportant. If an election were ordered on a ten or fifteen per cent. vote there would be a demand for a recall when there would be no justification, and as a result the voters would not sustain the demand at the polls. Again, if any candidate in a recall election could get on the ballot with less than ten per cent. of the voters there would be so many candidates that the purpose of the election would be defeated.

The points brought up by the opponents of the charter might be compared to the criticism of a man who scans a new building and finds fault with the color of the brick, the finish of the window sills or the panels of the doors. These are trifles that do not affect the main structure, and so the arguments urged against the charter criticize unimportant details and overlook the great provisions that give the people the power of direct legislation, that center responsibility and provide for the prompt and business-like administration of the city's affairs under all circumstances.

It is really discouraging to find the bewildering array of false statements that have been dinned into the ears of the people at the mill gates, at the tannery of the American Hide & Leather Co. and on street corners by speakers who claim to be the friends of the working people. The Sun has taken particular pains to investigate this charter question very fully, and from all sources and all directions comes the unanimous opinion that the new charter is the best form of municipal government in America, that it does not centralize power in the few but on the contrary gives the people absolute control over the municipal council, that the commission form of government is not favored by public utility corporations, that it is not favored by the money power and that the statement to the contrary made by some of the "antis" over and over again in this campaign is without any foundation whatever. It is equally untrue that the laborers in any of the city departments have anything to fear as in all probability they would have steadier work under the new charter than they have under the old.

There are five classes of people in this city who oppose the charter, and they may be set down thus:

1. All the office-holders.
2. All the office-seekers.
3. All the grafters.
4. The people who are under the influence of the three classes mentioned.
5. The people who see bogeys and who are unwilling to believe that the men who favor the charter have no other motive than to secure good government for our city.

It is useless to appeal to the first three classes, and it is almost equally hopeless to appeal to the man who believes that the charter involves some deep laid scheme of the republican party or the committee of sixty to capture the offices. The mistake here made is in supposing that any agency can capture offices when the party designation is gone.

But if bad men should get into office; if two or three "train wreckers," as we say, should get in—what of it? If they attempted to rob the city, would the people permit them? If they tried to hand out special privileges to corporations or public utility companies, could they deliver the goods? Not if the people hold the referendum.

If three or five men try to bond the city for a large debt, could they get away with it? Not if the people want to stop them, for no action of this kind can be pulled off in a night to take effect at once. Oh no, the people must get time to think it over and within ten days or thirty days, according to the nature of the action, the people can tie it up until passed upon at the polls. It is difficult for the man who has been accustomed to the old methods to realize the vastly different mode of doing business provided by the new charter.

SEEN AND HEARD

AMBITION.
I do not care for wealth and fame. Particularly fame.
I wouldn't give a fig to have A great and honored name.
I'm rich enough, if I but have A luxury or two.
And leisure time enough to do
The things I like to do.

Let others have the glory, and
The joys of swollen wealth;
I'm satisfied if I but have Enough, and time, and health.
Others may tread Ambition's path.
If it delights them to.
I only want a chance to do
The things I like to.

HIS PILGRIMAGE
Bill Jones resolved to spend some hours
In prading friends so true;
He would not wait for death and Flowers.

But give the quick their due;
He said to Smith: "You're all O. K.—
You love your friend, and much."
Said Smith: "What's all in' you today—
You lookin' for a touch?"

"'Twas then Jones turned and marched Upon
His old acquaintance Brown,
And tried to pin a medal on
That fine old man in town;
But Brown just blushed and looked Aground,
And instantly he fled.
And Jones soon found himself aground
With lots of praise unsaid.

And when he reached his home Jones Turned
To his faithful wife;
For prading he thought her spirit
Youred—
She'd had too much of strife;
But she glanced up, suspiciously.
And said: "Just spare your throat—
You simply cannot jolly me
Out of that winter coat."

FOREWORD: The following remarks are addressed to men only; the ladies will not appreciate them.

To the ordinary man there comes a feeling of pleasure when, for the purpose of having his hair cut, he seats himself in a barber's chair. Having just ended a day of hard work, he sinks into his well padded seat, rests his limbs in a comfortable position on his footbar and relieves his tired body against its cushioned back.

At the room is warm and conditions are inviting, he immediately feels an inclination to doze. This he would likely do but for drone of conversation, the rustling of newspapers being turned over, the opening and slamming of the door and the voice sounding "You're next, sir."

From these distractions, however, his thoughts are turned to the barber's comb as it moves through his hair.
Its touch, in a measure, conveys a feeling not unlike that of a friendly hand resting lightly upon his forehead. Then comes a titillating pleasure when, as the barber's fingers run through his locks, the snip of the scissors is for the first time felt. Each separate strand of hair it would seem is for a moment imbued with life and reality.
The contact of the sharp blades feels the cleave of its end. Then, as the points of the comb passers are run along the "side lines" and as they press sharply against the skin, he experiences a feeling of some uneasiness lest they be pressing too forcibly clip off a shred of "meat." The sensation that he feels, too, when the scissors "clip, clip, clips" along the cleave of his neck, is not a pleasant tickling fever, except, of course, when the instrument approaches the region of his ear. Not the least agreeable feeling, either, is that which comes over him when the chair is slowly swung around. Being drowsy, he imagines that he is on a merry-go-round which is gradually coming to a stop, but this sensation is quickly dispelled when he feels the keen, forbid of a razor shaving the bristly hair about his ear. The cutting completed, his hair is dosed with a variety of mysteriously-concocted liquids which will be efficacious indeed should they have as forceful an effect on his locks as on his organ of smell.

After his hair has been scuffed and rubbed and scuffed and rubbed again in vigorous fashion, it is neatly combed and brushed and he, regretfully getting out of the comfortable chair, puts on his collar and tie with the feeling that, in some unaccountable manner, a new head rests on his shoulders.

"Next gentleman."

Now, if among the thousands of lady readers of this paper, it is possible that, after our foreword, one has had curiosity enough to read our remarks, we would say to her: "Don't you wish that Providence had conferred on you the blessing of being a man?"

A NEW DRINK

BAY RUM ENOUGH TO MAKE THE WHISKEY GAMEY

WORCESTER, Nov. 2.—Judge Samuel Uley of the Central district court was introduced to a new drink yesterday. In the more than a generation that he has handed out sentences to law breakers he has heard of a lot of new drinks that make a man do unusual things, but yesterday's was the limit in decoctions.

"Take a half-pint of whiskey and put into it enough bay rum to make it gamey." That is the recipe and it is warranted to make any sane man fight.
According to the story told Judge Uley from the witness stand the de-coction caused Anna Williams and Simon Douglas, both of whom are near the three score and ten age limit, to fall out.

Williams appeared in court with his face slashed by a razor from forehead to chin on the left side and the finger of his left hand cut. He accused Douglas of whipping the razor, and Douglas admitted he did, but said he was prompted to defend himself when he saw Williams and a man named Lord coming at him with a chair.

After Judge Uley heard all the evidence he ordered Douglas' discharge from a complaint charging assault upon Williams.

TO GET RID OF FROWN AND SQUINT WRINKLES

(From Household Friend)

Do you know what your frowning habit makes you look like? Observe the different expressions due to frowning in the faces of other people. The scowl, given by two deep lines between the eyes; the worried look, resulting from a furrowed forehead; the sly expression, induced by squinting and causing the lines to radiate from the corner of the eye—all these, and more, are the result of frowns.

To obliterate frowning wrinkles—and all others—use a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxoline in a half pint of which heze-lites and whiting the skin. This immediately tightens the skin, affecting even the deepest wrinkles, and crows feet. It "firms up" not only the skin, but underlying tissues.
There's no better treatment for punch-like cheeks and neck. Any druggist can supply the ingredients.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

HELD UNDER AUSPICES OF DEL-TA ALPHA SOCIETY

An enjoyable Halloween party was held under the auspices of the Delta Alpha society of the Worthen Street Baptist church Tuesday evening at Highland hall. There was a large attendance, an excellent entertainment program was carried out and the affair proved to be a success in every particular.

As the guests entered they were met by ghosts, who directed them to the party cases, where fortunes were told.

There were a number of tables stationed at points of vantage in the hall, each being decorated in a manner which was in keeping with Halloween.
They were under the charge of Miss Ernestine Covey, assisted by the following committee: Fortune cake,
Gladys Arnold; mystic cave, Alberta McQuiston; chairman, Alice Taylor; Bertha Colby; Lillian Arnold; Lillian Swanson; Elizabeth Colby; cake and ice cream table, Lulu Field, chairman, Jannie Wright, Bernabe Wright; candy table, Mildred McQuiston and Edna Covey; chairman, Gertrude Davis; Victor Hamann; refreshments, Gertrude McQuiston, chairman, Lottie Covey, Lulu Field.

During the evening a laughable farce in one act was given, entitled "A Man From Brandon," with following cast:

Phil Lester, captain of Brandon football team Elden Field Jerome Decker, M. D., Kirby Insane hospital Elton Swanson Don Montan of Brandon, Miss Janet's nephew Wm. Leggett
Miss Janet Spencer, a maiden lady, Gertrude McQuiston
Bernice Montan, Miss Janet's niece, sister of Dan Lila Field
Bertha Melvin, Bernice's friend,
Lottie Covey
Nora, Miss Janet's maid Lillie Dunn
The other numbers on the program were a reading by Miss Eva Robinson and piano solos, Carl O'Malley.
Refreshments were served after the entertainment and later games were enjoyed.

Daniel Powell Fell From Step Ladder

Daniel Powell, an employe of Collins, the florist, fell from a step ladder in Associate hall shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and sustained a fracture of the first cervical vertebrae of the neck. He was removed in the ambulance to St. John's hospital, where he is being treated.

Powell was decorating the interior of the hall for the minstrel show which is to be held there tonight and was lunging a streamer when his foot slipped and he fell from the ladder to the floor a drop of about 15 feet. He struck on the back of his neck on the floor.

He resides at 10 Oak street.

MAN SAYS THAT HE LOST HIS POSITION

BROCKTON, Nov. 2.—An unusual case in which the court and the labor unions are concerned became known last night. A shoe worker whose name is withheld, served on the jury in the Mazzola murder case in Plymouth last week, but before he left the city he told the foreman of his shop that he was drafted and offered to furnish a substitute, it is said.

The foreman said that the substitute was unnecessary, it is said, and when the operative returned he was discharged.

He reported the case to his union and they to the Joint Shoe Council, who took the matter up and appointed a committee to investigate.

The business agent of the union communicated with Judge Quinn of the superior court regarding the man's discharge.

It was said last night that if the man is not restored to his place the union will carry the case to court.

JAMES SMILEY FELL DOWN AN AIRSHaft

MANSFIELD, Nov. 2.—James Smiley, a carpenter, was seriously injured by a fall of 20 feet here yesterday afternoon and Dr. B. M. Latham, the attending physician, could not say last night whether his patient would recover. It will soon be determined whether or not Smiley's back is broken.

But for discovery made by plumbers as they were picking up their tools at the new High school building, Smiley might have remained for a long time at the bottom of an airshaft.

Plumbers heard groans in the cellar and to extricate Smiley they had to break away a brick wall.
Smiley remembers nothing of his fall and cannot tell how it occurred. He was under observation last night and may be removed to a hospital today.

He is now at his home on Charles street.

SAM WALTER FOSS CLUB

The members of the Sam Walter Foss literary club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Cheney, 60 Sheldon street. There was a large attendance despite the disagreeable weather and the afternoon was spent in a delightful manner. A short business meeting, presided over by Mrs. E. D. Foss, was held, after which
Mrs. Willis Hatch introduced Elmer E. Harris as speaker for the afternoon.

Mr. Harris gave a very interesting

Happiness in Reach

HERE

"Twenty-five per cent. of the people of Lowell live a life of burden and have little real happiness. The cause is nervous debility, and is produced by modern conditions of city life." This statement was made recently by one of the specialists who are introducing a new tonic, "Tona Vita," to the Lowell public.

According to this specialist, the hustle and worry of modern life is too much of a strain on the average man or woman, and chronic nervous debility is the result. The specialist claims that no individual can hope to succeed in or enjoy life when once the disease is established, and that comparatively few people know the cause of their poor health and lack of vitality.

"Tired, droopy, half-sick men and women are as common as leaves on the trees in Lowell, and every other city," said the specialist. "They have uncertain appetites, poor digestion, little ambition and feel almost forwork most of the time. They suffer from timidity, have no initiative, and haven't enough good, rich blood in their veins to make them capable or self-reliant. They imagine themselves afflicted with various diseases at different times. The real trouble with them is debility produced by the life they lead."

The medical profession, as a whole, has recognized these facts for a number of years, but little was done to overcome this poor digestion, and the general public is concerned, until a tonic was introduced in Europe a few years ago, which proved very effective.
A company has been organized to put a similar preparation on the market in the United States. The medicine is called "Tona Vita" in this country, and it is now being introduced in many cities here. I have charge of this work in Lowell, and I expect to get wonderful results."

The specialists who have charge of the introduction of the medicine in Lowell have given some astonishing five-minute demonstrations. This consists in giving the proper dose of the tonic to sufferers from nervous debility, and in five minutes requesting them to state what effect the medicine had.

There is an attendant remedy known as Lee's Rhubarb Laxative, which is most valuable to those suffering with chronic constipation. It has a pleasant taste, does not gripe and acts promptly.

The sale of the new medicine is now the biggest thing of the kind ever seen in Lowell, and each succeeding day marks an increase of interest. "Tona Vita" is proving a complete revelation to the thousands of half-sick, rundown, listless men and women in the city who did not know exactly what was the matter with them. It would be worth anybody's time to visit the Hall & Lyon Drug Store, the exclusive agents for Lowell, and inspect the large number of testimonials from those who have been benefited by the new tonic and who have undoubted faith in it as a remedy of unusual value. These specialists are on hand

GRAND RECORD MADE

UNDER COMMISSION CHARTER IN MEMPHIS, TENN.—POPULATION 131,105

MINSTREL SHOW

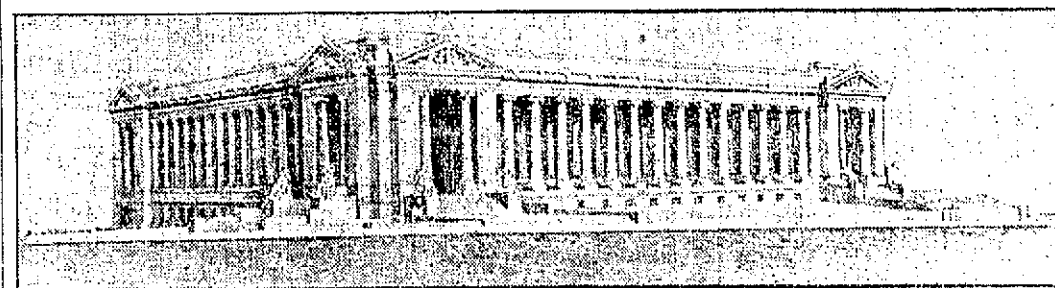

WAS HELD AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The young people of the First Presbyterian church were given quite a treat last night in the form of a minstrel show which was held in the Sunday school room of the church. The affair started at 8 o'clock and was very interesting and amusing throughout. The interloper was Mr. Lyons, while the end men and women were Mr. Sturtevant and Miss Ruth Clement and Mr. Hanley and Miss Agnes Murphy. The four were ably assisted by a chorus of 50 young men and women. The program opened with a piano solo, "Come Back to Old Virginia," by the accompanist of the evening, who did this and all the accompaniments in splendid style and was responsible in a great measure for the success which the singing won. Then came an overture by the whole company. The next number was a solo, "Under the Southern Moonlight," by Miss Leona Small with the "entire company" in the chorus. Miss Ruth Clements then held a very amusing conversation with Mr. Interloper. Then came the hit of the evening, "The Railroad Rag," sung by Mr. Sturtevant and the entire company in the chorus. Miss Murphy then had a very interesting session with Mr. Interloper. Mr. Robert Beaton then sang "Don't Wake Me Up," and succeeded in waking up Mr. Sturtevant on the right end who then and there proceeded to have a most interesting interview with interloper and the audience enjoyed this immensely. Miss Campbell then sang "My Heart Has Learned to Love You," and then both ends had a few remarks with each other. Then the program closed with the singing of "You'll Do the Same Thing Over Again," by Mr. Hanley, "Oceania Roll," by Mr. Hanley, "Outside of That You're All Right," by Miss Ruth Clement, "I Want a Girl," by Mr. Lyons, and then came the "grand finale" Alexander's Rag Time Band, by Miss Agnes Murphy and the entire company.

TOLD BY MAYOR

A BIG CHARTER RALLY

Was Held at the Centralville Social Club Last Night

A largely attended rally in favor of man in the audience asked Mr. Murphy the proposed charter was held last night in the Centralville club rooms, the speakers being John H. Murphy, secretary of the board of trade, Dr. J. Elzear Lamoureux and Thomas J. Goyette. The attendance numbered over 200 and he it said besides a couple of exceptions, they were all attentive listeners, and although a straw vote was not taken at the close of the meeting, they all seemed to be in favor of the new form of government.

The meeting was opened and presided over by John H. Goyette, who in appropriate remarks explained the purpose of the gathering, and he introduced as the first speaker, John H. Murphy, who was well greeted.

Mr. Murphy started his talk by telling the assembly that he would not take much of their time to explain to them that he was not a high brow, although he had on several occasions been accused of being one, and then he went along giving a very good explanation of the work done by the committee of 60, and how the latter was formed of people of all creeds, all nationalities, and voters from every district. "The question of a new charter has been attempted in the past and turned down," said the speaker explained the principal points of the charter and closed his remarks by answering a number of questions. He was followed by Dr. J. Elzear Lamoureux, who in a very interesting but brief speech compared both forms of government. He also explained what red tape it is at the present time to get anything from the city fathers, taking as an example a man who wants a sidewalk in front of his house. In this case you file your petition with the common council who will take it up when it has time, then after a couple of months, they will vote to turn it over to the committee, and when the committee have time they will take up your request and vote to view the place. The petition is then referred to the council, and when the latter have time they turn it over to the aldermen, and again when they have time they take a vote on it, and if it is accepted, it is then turned over to the mayor, who signs it when he has time, and the result is that you have your sidewalk the next year.

"But with the new form of government," said the speaker, "you will go direct to the commissioners with your petition and the chances are that your sidewalk will be laid out in a very short time." The doctor also spoke of the school board, explaining why this is being abolished in the new form of government. He went along explaining that during the four years he was in the school board, as far as he remembers, four of the commissioners who knew very little on the educational question, had to be taught for months, and then when a good question was brought up, they would most of the time vote against it, but when there was a vacancy to fill, each of these four men always had a competent candidate from their ward. The doctor as well as the other speaker finished his remarks by answering several questions.

Mr. Goyette was the next speaker and he dwelt on the arguments made recently at the Pawtucketville Social club by Lawrence Cummings. He was also asked several questions, a number of which were asked by Mr. Garneau, a former member of the committee of 60. Mr. Garneau argued for some time that 25 per cent. of the votes were needed for the recall, while the speaker claimed that it was 20 instead of 25. Finally a copy of the charter was brought out and there it was proven to Mr. Garneau that Mr. Goyette was right. Mr. Garneau then admitted that he had not read the new charter, which Mr. Goyette advised him to read before bringing up further arguments.

The speaker then gave a lengthy talk on the different cities which have already adopted the charter, and also went into some of the details of the proposed charter for this city, comparing it to the present form of government to the satisfaction of all.

Achievement of Twenty Months is Really Astounding

The city of Memphis, Tenn., is the largest in the world under a commission government, except Birmingham, Ala. It has five commissioners, one of whom, Hon. E. H. Crump, is mayor, and the achievement under this commission government for the past twenty months is certainly worthy of careful consideration. It is appended.

THE LETTER OF INQUIRY

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 16, 1911.

Dear Sir:

As the citizens of Lowell are soon to vote upon the question of adopting the commission or Des Moines form of charter in all its important features and as the opposition claims that the new charter will take the power away from the people, that it is backed by the money power in Wall street and means a return to slavery, will you kindly answer the following queries for the information of the citizens?

1—If these claims have any foundation?

2—Under such a charter can any particular class of citizens have special advantages over any other class?

3—Has this form of charter improved conditions in your city or would you go back to the old form of charter?

4—Is there any reason why the working classes should not prefer such a charter to the old fashioned double chamber system in which partisan politics is predominant?

By answering these questions or giving any other information in regard to this charter you will greatly oblige Yours very truly, etc.

MAYOR CRUMP'S REPLY

The record is given below and the following is Mayor Crump's reply through his secretary:

Editor Sun,

Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

By direction of the mayor I attach hereto answers to the favor of the 16th instant, relative to the workings of the commission government in Memphis.

Under separate cover I am sending you a booklet just issued, which tells the story of progress here under the new form of government, and naturally is the entire truth, as it is taken from the records, and were it not so, would be torn to pieces by political opponents.

Very truly yours,
T. M. Phillips,
Secretary to the Mayor.

Record for 20 Months

Below is a summary of twenty months' accomplishments under commission government in Memphis, Tenn., a city of over 131,100 population:

It would be impossible to mention every betterment perfected by this administration, under commission government, but the following stand out particularly strong, when considered in connection with public needs and demands:

Tax rate reduced to $1.59, lowest in the history of Memphis.

Collected from delinquent taxes of other years and by closer attention to present taxes, money in excess of budget estimate.

By a compromise with the old Union Station company, secured $30,000 worth of property for the city, besides the payment of all costs and attorney's fees.

For the first time in the history of the city, made a trade with banks by which interest was paid on daily balances and less charged on overdrafts. This earned the city $12,000 to $13,000 last year, and will be considerably more this year.

For the first time in the history of the city, collected the full amount of turnpike funds due from the county court, amounting to some $22,500 annually.

Collected in poll rentals, unsuccessfully tried by other administrations, the amount of $7,474.60.

Secured the actual construction of subways.

Secured the construction of the first cross-town car line in the history of the city.

Extended the conduit system, so as to include a much larger area in the business section for underground wires.

Greatly increased the lighting facilities of the city, in which, however, the city has been greatly handicapped by the slowness of the Consolidated Gas and Electric company in filling orders.

Made war upon unsightly old "shacks," by which nearly 500 were torn down, and the majority of them replaced by modern buildings.

Ordered many fire escapes placed in buildings about city.

Extended the sewer system to the new territory annexed in September, 1909. The water department is now laying its mains to take care of these sewers.

Repaired and made sanitary all fire engine houses left in a most deplorable condition by the previous administration and made the equipment effective.

Erected a fire engine house on Lamar Boulevard; a double fire engine house on McLemore avenue and another double fire engine house on Adams avenue and Maiden Lane. A fourth new engine house will be built in the neighborhood of Jackson avenue.

Erected a mounted police station on Barksdale avenue. The mounted men get around fast, and holdups, once so common in the residence section, have practically ceased.

Now erecting a police station at the corner of Adams avenue and Second street, which will be the handsomest and most convenient in the South, under a commission composed of Dave Halle, chairman; D. M. Armstrong, secretary; E. C. Goyette, treasurer.

Instituted drills of patrolmen under Maj. Kit Deffy, who has developed the force into a body of finely drilled and disciplined men.

Established a traffic squad for Main street, by which accidents in the congested sections have been virtually eliminated.

Have also perfected a system to check automobile speeding, greatly reducing accidents from that source.

Remodeled the old section of the city hospital, added a third wing, and beautified the surrounding premises.

Remodeled and modernized equipped the market house on Beale avenue, replacing it to its rightful place as a public convenience.

In the first year laid 37.29 miles of sewers.

Also constructed 30.6 miles of streets, and practically paved 9.50 more under the front foot assessment plan, covering 105 streets.

Graded, curbed and guttered 34 streets and alleys.

Rounded up and placed in shape 14.4 miles dirt streets.

Resurfaced 11.7 miles of street, and hauled and spread gravel upon 85 streets and alleys.

Laid 52.67 miles of five-foot sidewalks, containing 1,390,645 square feet of material.

Each of the foregoing records in 1910 was the greatest in its line in the history of the city.

Street paving and sidewalk laying is now at its height, and will continue until bad weather sets in. This year contracts have been awarded on 19.6 miles of streets under the front foot assessment law, which will cost approximately $943,769.23. Up to August 1 there had been 29.4 miles of sidewalk laid, as well as a vast amount of other work performed, the full records of which will not be complete until the end of the year.

DANCING PARTY

UNDER AUSPICES OF COMPANY C HELD AT ARMOY

The second of a series of dancing parties to be held under the auspices of Company C of the Sixth regiment (this season was held last night at the armory in Westford street. There was a very large attendance but there was plenty of room to enjoy dancing, which was held in the spacious ball shed.

The interior of the shed was decorated with the national colors and the members of the company appeared in full dress uniform. There were many of the officers from the other companies stationed at the armory and many of the officers of the staff, including Capt. Louis Hinton of the commissary department, Adjutant George H. Downs of Jamaica, and some of the officers from the non-commissioned staff. Minor's orchestra provided excellent music for the long dance order. The committee in charge of the dance was composed of First Sergeant Lincoff, Sergeant Crowe, Private Terrell, Private Kemp and Private Sanford.

Previous to the dancing an interesting lecture was given to the non-commissioned officers by Sergeant Lowell, U. S. A., the subject of his address being "Military Courtesy." The non-coms gained many valuable pointers from this interesting speaker.

A Helpless Invalid

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, it is would almost seem, to blame for her own wretchedness. Read what this woman says:

Richmond, Mo.—"When my second daughter was eighteen months old I was pronounced a hopeless invalid by specialists. I had a consultation of doctors and they said I had a severe case of ulceration. I was in bed for ten weeks, had sinking spells, and was pronounced to be in a dangerous condition. My father insisted that we try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought me six bottles. I soon began to improve, and before it had all been taken I was as well and strong as ever,—my friends hardly realized me so great was the change."—Mrs. Woodson Branstetter, Richmond, Mo.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what another woman says:—

Jonesboro, Texas.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for myself and daughter, and consider it unequalled for all female diseases. I would not be without it for anything. I wish every mother in America could be persuaded to use it as there would be less suffering among our sex then. I am always glad to speak a word of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you are at liberty to use this testimonial."—Mrs. James T. Lawrence, Jonesboro, Texas.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

The testimonials which are constantly being published in the Pinkham advertisements are guaranteed to be absolutely genuine, honest, and given without reward in any way whatever.

Mr. Osgood. There was a good attendance despite the unfavorable condition of the weather and, in behalf of the charter committee of 60, the chairman thanked those present for their attendance. Mr. Harris explained how the movement for a new charter began and said that it was a little over a year
old. He said there was no ulterior or selfish motive behind it but such statements, he said, have no foundation in fact. He said that the material appearing in the daily papers relative to the new charter was absolutely true
and said that persons interested in the welfare of the city should read every line of it.

Mr. Harris introduced as the first speaker, William H. Wilson, chairman of the committee of sixty. Mr. Wilson told, briefly, the work connected with the preparation of the new charter and said that if adopted it would be an instrument of lasting and permanent benefit to Lowell. He said that the new charter was taken from the char-

Who Presided at Rally.

ters of other cities under commission
form of government and it was the duty of the committee of 60, he said,
to get portions of these charters to the departmental committee of Lowell.

He referred to the recall, referendum and initiative and said that the mayor under the present charter has little or no authority and has no authority
over the police except by virtue of courtesy. He said he had made no
personal criticism of any one connected with the present city government
and that he had none to make.

the common council is a school for young men and if that were the case
it is important that it should be preserved, but your observation and mine
does not lead to that conclusion for
we have seen young men go in there
and we have known that they were subjected to conditions for which they were not responsible and by which they were not benefited.

"Once upon a time, at city hall, I heard the late John P. Murphy make
the statement that every man, rich
and poor, was worth just $2 to the city, and I considered that a very terse and very true statement. If the poor man dies the city loses $2 and if the rich man dies the city loses $2. If
a taxpayer dies his property continues to pay the taxes. When the money belonging to the city is collected it goes into the city treasury and it belongs to the voters. Every man has an equal interest in it and you and I are responsible for the proper expenditure
of it. The money is not being properly expended at the present time and conditions cannot be improved under the present charter, for it is utterly impossible to fix responsibility. The mayor is helpless. He can exercise his veto power and that's about all. The appropriations committee, made up of men of no previous experience, gets together, hears the wants of heads of departments, and proceeds to parcel
out the money. The money is spent under the direction of a man you and I never voted for and whom you and I can't direct and to whom we can't make a complaint because we can't place the responsibility.

"The normal vote of Lowell is about 15,000 and about $1,700,000 is collected annually so that we are all responsible for about $100 apiece. This means that we are responsible for the condition of our streets, our sewerage system, our water system, etc. There is end to the interest that we should have in our city. You pay more money to the city than you do to the
der to serve the best interests of the city we should vote for the charter, which, once adopted, has never been abandoned."

Francis W. Qua was next introduced.
"There is no office that the state or city could give me that I would take," said Mr. Qua. "My period of time has gone by. My interest in the city has not gone by. There is no motive in my interest in the charter except to help my fellow citizens to do the right thing at the polls."

"In 1895 I was chosen by the city to hold office. I held it for eight years
and it was a department that had to do with all other departments. I became intensely interested in the subject of municipal government. I am not inclined to say that the city government is corrupt. The large majority of members of the city government in my time were honest, earnest
men doing the best they could under the circumstances. It has been said,
and truly too, that there is something wrong with municipal government in the United States and the larger the city the worse the government. But there is in our democracy one hopeful feature. When a thing gets too bad
we make up our minds that the conditions must and shall change. The best minds have been studying the problem why democracy fails where it should be at its best—the municipal-
ity. The government of your city is ten times more important to you than
the government of your state and twenty times more important than the government of the United States.

"Lowell was among the first cities
to organize in this commonwealth.
The organizers were imbued with the idea of democracy and they looked to the national and state governments.
They didn't realize that a city government is not analogous to state or national government. They are for the making of laws while the municipal government is intended for the performance of certain duties, the care of streets and things of that kind. The state makes the laws and

The Governor Addressed Four Big Rallies Last Night

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Four addresses at rallies held in Chelsea, Haver, Lynn and Salem constituted Gov. Foss' campaign work last night, and in each place where he spoke he was welcomed by enthusiastic gatherings.

But it was at the final meeting of the night, in the North street skating rink in Salem, that he was accorded one of the warmest and noisiest ovations of the campaign.

SAVED CHILD FROM DEATH.
"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. Kline's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, bronchitis, laryngitis, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 60c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by A. W. Dows & Co.

PATHE WEEKLY

was his opening sentence to the 500 or more voters gathered in Congress hall, Chelsea, the first meeting. He had been accorded a splendid ovation and during his address, in which he laid stress upon the importance of state issues, he predicted that he would have a larger majority than he had a year ago. In all his speeches he scored the republican party and its leaders for its stand on the tariff and challenged them to make the fight on state issues.

Fully 1000 persons were in Old Fellows hall, Lynn, when the governor arrived there about 9 and among them were many women. Mayor Conway had opened the meeting and presented Walter Freeman, democratic state committee chairman, as chairman. When the governor entered the applause was long and loud, but he had hardly begun his speech before Mayor Fitzgerald cut in an outburst and was the cause of interrupting the meeting for a brief time.

In his Lynn address, Gov. Foss accused the tariff board of contemplating "framing up" a report that would intensify the stand-pat republicans, and added that "the five members of the tariff board, who will make a report to the president on scientific tariff, are nothing more than clerks, anyway. They will make their reports to him and not to congress and the president may report as much of the tariff board's findings only as he sees fit."

Ovation at Salem.

There were a few women in the demonstrative audience that packed the rink at Salem. Thunderous applause greeted the entrance of the governor, and when he was introduced the handclapping swelled into an ovation, during which the entire audience stood up, cheering like mad and wildly waving arms, hats and umbrellas. This continued for several minutes, and when it had subsided, Gov. Foss, with both hands thrust in his trousers pockets, smiled and nodded his appreciation and then quietly remarked:

"Gentlemen, this looks pretty good to me. Although there never was much in my mind, there is absolutely none now." He then plunged into his address.

Gov. Foss' Speech

Gov. Foss in his set speech said in part:

"The people of Massachusetts in this election should ignore all the petty jealousies and attacks of my opponents and vote for the candidate whom they believe to be the best man for the position."

"This year marks Massachusetts as a birthplace of progressive legislation. A Republican victory would nullify every progressive measure we have started and forbid the enactment of any more."

"Every progressive measure pending today in this state is a Democratic measure. The Republicans have failed with some of these issues, but they have not become law until a Democratic governor took hold of them. That's the difference. One party has used them as bait; but the other has brought actual progress to the public policies of Massachusetts."

"I propose to build up the agricultural Massachusetts and make it profitable to the farmer and more productive for the good of every one."

"I intend to secure legislation to help young boys and girls to choose their vocations wisely and thus increase their efficiency and insure their self-supporting power."

"I propose to secure a far greater development of our inland waterways, in order to furnish cheap transportation for our raw materials and to check the railroad monopoly."

Initiative and Referendum.

"These are some of the progressive measures on which I am running for re-election. Here are some more:

"I intend that the people of Massachusetts shall secure the privilege of submitting the men they approve as candidates for the United States senate. What have my opponents to say on that issue?"

"Furthermore, I demand that the people shall have the right to vote directly on legislative measures. That is the initiative."

"They must have the right to reject legislative measures passed against their interest by the secret influence of special interests. That's the referendum."

"There's only one way to veto on these issues, my friends. The Republican platform is absolutely silent upon them. The Republican candidates pledge themselves to absolutely nothing."

"But you have read our platform. You know where I stand."

"This isn't my fight. It's the people's fight. It's your fight. And I'm in it with you."

"It isn't the Democratic party's fight. It's the fight of the people of Massachusetts."

"And the people will win."

Walsh Attacks Advertisements.

In his speech at Lynn and Salem David L. Walsh said in part:

"The most unfair, the most insidious and the most malicious attempt to mislead the people in this campaign is being made, not by the Republican orators in their utterances on the stump, but by great corporations acting in collusion with Republican campaign managers by specious, unfair, misleading and nuttural statements, advertised in the newspapers by these great tariff-benefited corporations."

"The statements made by one of these corporations particularly, and published as a political advertisement in the evening paper of Monday, Oct. 20, are not only misleading and unethical, but in spirit is a violation of the laws of the state of Massachusetts. I refer to the advertisement published by the American Woolen company and signed by William M. Wood, president."

"In referring to the textile industries of Massachusetts this advertisement says:

"We a political party proclaims

that it is going to close these Massachusetts mills or force them to remove to another section of the country it is like a declaration of war on the prosperity of this commonwealth and of every man or woman who reads these words."

"This statement is an absolutely malicious and lying charge against the Democratic party. I challenge Mr. Wood or any other officer of the American Woolen company to point out when or where the Democratic party proclaimed that it was going to close these mills or force them to remove to another section of the country. In this statement Mr. Wood is deliberately mendacious and has gone beyond the limit of fair play, decency or honesty in political discussion."

Violate Spirit of Law.

"These advertisements are a clear violation of the intent and spirit of chapter 483 of the acts of 1903 of our election laws. This act states, section 1. "It is perfectly clear to any fair-minded man that Mr. Wood and his company, by these advertisements, are paying or contributing to aid and promote the interests of the Republican party and its candidates and trying to antagonize the interests of the Democratic party, and to prevent the election of its candidates, and are deliberately violating the spirit, intent and purpose of these provisions of our election laws."

WOMAN FINED $15

She Stole Two Yards of Cloth From Local Mill

Jessie Vlachaka was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging her with the larceny of two yards of cloth, the property of the Tremont & Suffolk mills. Through her counsel, Lawyer Silverblatt, she entered a plea of not guilty, but at the conclusion of the hearing of testimony the court found the woman guilty and ordered her to pay a fine of $15.

According to the testimony offered the woman was employed at the Tremont & Suffolk mills and last night when leaving the mill a special officer of the corporation, seeing that she had a bundle under her arm, approached her and asked what was in the bundle. She said nothing and threw the bundle away. He picked it up and finding that there was a piece of an unfinished double blanket in the bundle placed the woman under arrest.

The defendant said that she did not think the material was any good and she was taking it home in order to make aprons to wear in the mill. Cross-examined by Major E. J. Noyes, who conducted the government's case, the woman said she was employed in the weaving room and that she took the cloth from the weave room.

Drunken Offenders.

Dennis A. Bloom, who is on probation for non support of his wife, entered a plea of guilty to a complaint of drunkenness. Judge Hadley sentenced him to 10 days in jail.

Against her husband and said that she has had no peace with him since the court ordered him to pay her $5 a week. She said he is continually taunting her about the money and threatening to do her harm. She also said that he is drunk the greater part of the time. Judge Hadley decided that it was time to let Bloom understand that he cannot do as he likes and he was ordered to pay a fine of $5 for drunkenness and furnish bonds in the sum of $500 to keep the peace for six months.

"The land of Canaan is a good place for you to go to," said Judge Hadley to Allen M. Wheeler this morning. Allen, who is on probation for drunkenness, was brought before the court to this city to see the sights. He made a tour of inspection of the different saloons along the line and when he awoke this morning he found that he was in a cell in the police station and minus about $50. The clerk of the court of the case was told that the man had been sufficiently punished and gave him a suspended sentence of three months in jail and told him to go back to Canaan.

Daniel O'Leary, a parole man from the state farm, who was returned to that institution, Thomas Kilkenny and Michael Healey, were fined $5 each and two first offenders were fined $2 each. William R. Ford was sentenced to six months in jail.

Louis Gurney pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with drunkenness and a fine of $8 was imposed.

REPUBLICAN RALLY

Congressional Quartet Appeared on Opera House Stage

Despite the inclemency of the weather there was a large gathering at the Opera House last evening at the big Republican rally.

Dick Griffiths and harmony dispensers of the National band dodged the rain drops and paraded the streets before the rally, thus drumming up a large following, whom they escorted to the theater. It was a night of "big guns" for four real live congressmen were among the speakers. The Hon. Butler Ames, the man from home; Hon. George P. Lawrence of North Adams; Hon. James W. Goode of Iowa and Hon. Frank B. Willis of Ohio.

In addition to them the spot light shined on the stage. Erson B. Barlow, candidate for senator in the eighth Middlesex district; Hon. S. Bacon, candidate for register in North Middlesex county; Victor Jewett and Henry Aehn, candidates for representative in the 17th district; Hon. Joseph H. Hibbard, James McDowell, John Jacob Rogers, Hon. George E. Putnam, James Gilbert Hill, Herbert L. Chapman.

Congressman Ames.

After the opening overture Congressman Ames opened the show as presiding officer. In the course of his monologue he said:

"In this district 92 per cent. of the cotton operatives come from foreign countries, and 80 per cent. of the woolen operatives come from foreign countries," he said. "Why do they come? Because of the cheap labor conditions in their own country."

"In the last election, after we had given careful and conscientious study to tariff conditions, and had acted in the real interests of the country, we were almost kicked out of office. The house is now under Democratic control, and the chairman of each committee is from the south."

"What do they then know about white labor? They don't care about northern industries, and yet some of our northern congressmen have sided in with them and have had the effrontery to come back and ask for a vindication."

"Remember, the eyes of the country are on you next Tuesday. This is one of the most important elections since the Civil war. Let Massachusetts set the example for other states."

Hon. J. W. Goode.

The next act was Goode—Hon. James W. of Iowa. Mr. Goode in part spoke as follows:

"It is a hard task to make a tariff law that will suit all parts of the country."

Massachusetts has 14 congressmen and there are 394 members of congress all told. In Iowa we have no cotton or woolen mills, but I was very glad to be one to vote to sustain the president's vetoes of the cotton and the woolen bills and his veto of the boot and shoe bill.

"In the boot and shoe industry you are paid 27 cents an hour on the average, while in countries of Europe the average wage is nine cents an hour. I don't see how the boot and shoe industry here could live against such competition. In the woolen mills of Europe, the employees receive 60 per cent. less wages than the employees of this country. The cotton mills of Europe show somewhat similar conditions."

"To obtain the information necessary as to the cost of production at home and abroad, we have employed 100 experts to go through the country and to Europe; and on their reports the republican party relies to reach an intelligent conclusion."

"I believe in high wages. I like to see a prosperous community. As to the claims made that the cost of living is high here, let me say that the cost of high living is the trouble. Americans get the best."

"Your governor has been talking about the price of food. Now, I come from a state which, with others nearby, is engaged in producing food and I contend that we are as much entitled to protection for our industries as you are to protection for your industries."

"The standard of living is high in America. You must remember that the shoe operatives get three times as much pay for their work as the shoe operatives of Europe, that our woolen operatives get 80 per cent. more than those of Europe; that our cotton operatives get twice as much as they do in Europe."

as an example of a great industry in which he thinks protection has nothing to do with wages. He referred to the tariff reduction from 25 to 10 per cent. and argued that there had been no reduction of wages. That does not affect our contention at all. When Clarence D. Reed of the Commonwealth Shoe and Leather Co. told me he believed if the president had not vetoed the free list bill, he would have been obliged to reduce the wages of the 1450 employees in the Whitman factory to the foreign scale, that is, by at least 50 per cent., or else close altogether ultimately; when A. W. Donovan of the E. F. Wright Co. said substantially the same thing; when R. H. Long of So. Framingham said the resultant English competition would seriously cut into us, amount that with 10 per cent. protection the industry was barely holding its own against the foreigner and that a further cut would compel wage reductions or loss of employment. It ought to be possible for unprejudiced specialists to tell whether they are right. Then we can leave the rate where it is or change it as may be safe without endangering an industry that employs 75,000 of the wage-earners of Massachusetts.

"Precisely the same thing is true of the great textile industries. I do not know whether the cotton and woolen bills vetoed by the president were right or wrong. He did not know. Nobody knew. They were guesses. The strong probability, therefore, is that they were wrong. So the textile manufacturers think. What we want is to know the truth in the matter. We do not want that either the rate of wage or the rate of profit in the textile industry of Massachusetts shall be lowered by guesswork tariff bills. We do not want the lowest tariff that is consistent with preserving the standard of earnings of our present in Massachusetts. We believe we can get this if we back up President Taft in his program for taking the tariff out of politics. We believe the election of Mr. Foss will tend to keep the tariff the football of self-seeking partisans, thus continuing to keep Massachusetts capital and labor in uncertainty, straggling enterprise and delaying the return of prosperity."

Hon. Robert Luce

The next number on the bill was the headline, Hon. Robert Luce, of Somerville, caucus-reformer and candidate for lieutenant-governor.

Mr. Luce in opening spoke on the tariff and then said in part:

"What we republicans ask is that the truth in this and all other matters shall be found by the investigators of a non-partisan tariff board. We want the facts first, and legislation afterward. The democrats want legislation first, the facts afterward. We want to figure, the facts afterward. We want to figure, the facts afterward. We want to figure, the facts afterward."

Mr. Luce then attacked Governor Foss with the charge that he employed women in his foundries at Cambridge and Readville. He stated that Gov. Foss had promised to put an end to this employment of women but wanted the promise kept a secret.

Congressman Lawrence

Congressman Lawrence from North Adams was next on the bill and he said:

"When a Democratic orator has nothing else to talk about he can always be depended upon to make a savage attack on poor old schedule K (the woolen schedule). That is luridly described as the worst thing that ever happened. Well, I guess it is far from perfect. When the tariff board makes its report in December, we will know exactly what the mistakes are."

"That board is doing a great amount of work and is now making a thorough painstaking investigation of the woolen industry. I unhesitatingly predict that its report will point the way to proper correction of the schedule and I am absolutely confident that it will show that the Underwood bill would have seriously crippled the woolen industry in the United States."

Mr. Lawrence then launched forth into a discussion of tariff schedules, banding figures by the millions. Speaking of the woolen industry he said:

"There are in the United States more than a thousand woolen mills. Over $450,000,000 worth of woolen goods are produced in this country yearly. The competition is keen and it is impossible to sustain the charge that there is a woolen manufacturers' trust or monopoly. It is said that the American Woolen company is a trust but it owns only about 30 of the 1000 mills in the country. It produces from $25,000,000 to $35,000,000 worth of woolen goods yearly, while as I have said the production in the whole country amounts to the astonishing total of $450,000,000. This industry is one of the greatest in the country and there should be no reckless reduction in duties based upon guesswork. I submit that it is much more sensible for congress to wait a few weeks longer for the facts gathered by the tariff board than to rush recklessly into legislation which might bring distress to thousands of our people."

For the Thin and Bloodless!

The thin and bloodless, with pale cheeks, who live and frail angular physique, of this community have been much interested in the reports of physicians and others concerning the effectiveness of the treatment for increasing the red and white corpuscles of the blood, thus adding color and weight to its accompanying vigor to the depleted system. A gain of from ten to thirty pounds is not at all unusual where the treatment is regularly used for several months, while the vigor improves almost from the beginning. Most good apothecaries supply it in the form of three-grain hypo-nutric tablets, put up in sealed packets, with directions for some use. Its action aids assimilation and absorption of the food eaten very promptly.

Heath and Beauty Hints

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Mrs. S.: A "made" complexion, which looks real, and if you continue using cosmetics the skin will grow rough and unsightly. Try spumax lotion and you will be delectable with results. Spumax is a special glycerine in one-half pint hot water, then add four ounces spumax. When cool apply sparingly to face, neck, and arms and rub lightly until it dries. This spumax lotion is soothing and healing, cleanses the skin of all impurities and banishes the oily, sallow look. Use this lotion and you will have a complexion rivaling any made by artificial means.

Mrs. Geo.: It is dangerous to disregard the laws of nature, and unless you employ a system tonic you may have a run of sickness. I would suggest making up the following: one-half pint blood cleanser and taking a tablespoonful three times daily. In a half-pint alcohol dissolve one-half cupful sugar, then add one ounce lemon and one ounce water to make a quart. This tonic will expel impurities from the body, repair waste tissues and restore lost appetite as well as give you renewed strength and vigor.

Myra: The pyroxin treatment will make your lashes grow long, thick and curly. Brush carefully then apply it to lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Eyebrows can be made to grow heavy and bushy if you put pyroxin on with finger-tips. Don't get any where hair is not wanted. Druggists sell pyroxin in original one-ounce packages.

M. O.: The only quick and sure way to remove fuzz from the cheek is to apply a hairbrush. Let it rest on your face for three minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. Only in rare instances is it necessary to use the second application. Delicately costs a dollar for an original one-ounce package, but it is worth it to rid the skin of superfluous hair.

Mrs. O.: Glasses at your age, I presume, are quite necessary. However, if you will get an ounce of crystals and dissolve it in a pint of cold water and put two or three drops in each eye every day, you can overcome the soreness and redness. Keep up this simple treatment and your eyes will be as bright and brilliant and you will no longer be troubled with weak eyes.

Upper: Don't wreck your nervous system by dieting, because by taking ordinary parrots, found in all drug stores, you can reduce your weight to where you want it and not suffer any inconvenience or ill after-effects. Four ounces parrots should be dissolved in a pint-and-a-half hot water, and when it cools, take a tablespoonful before each meal. This parrotic treatment you will find reduces weight rapidly without leaving the skin flabby or wrinkled or marring the form's symmetrical lines.

Miss X.: No, canthrox will not injure the most sensitive scalp. It contains no "free" alkali and makes a white, thick lather that soothes and heals a tender scalp. Itches, redness, moves every bit of dust, dandruff and excess oil, and promotes a healthy condition. After a canthrox shampoo the hair dries quickly, evenly, and is soft and glossy. Any druggist can supply canthrox in an original package, and a teaspoonful dissolved in hot water is ample for a first-class shampoo.

Rose B.: (1) I never advise using powders or cosmetics because of their tendency to clog the skin's pores and cause roughness of the skin, pimples, blackheads and other complexion upsets. (2) You will find a plain almond cream-jelly splendid for reducing large pores and cleansing the skin of impurities as well as imparting a delightful softness and freshness to any complexion. To make this greaseless cream-jelly, stir two teaspoonfuls glycerine in one-half pint cold water, then add one ounce almond. Let stand several hours before using, then apply generously and massage in well. No matter how unlovely the complexion may be, this simple almond cream-jelly will make it radiantly beautiful.

Anxious: Baldness among women is nothing short of a calamity, and really suggests carelessness or indifference in care of the hair. You can restore the natural color and silkiness to your hair and make it grow thick and beautiful, if you make and use this simple tonic. Into a half-pint alcohol pour a half-pint water, then add one ounce quinine. Frequently massaging a little of this at a time into the scalp overcomes dandruff and itching, and so invigorates the hair-follicles that an abundance of fine glossy hair results.
